U. S. Fleet Loses Cruiser Houston and Destroyer Pope

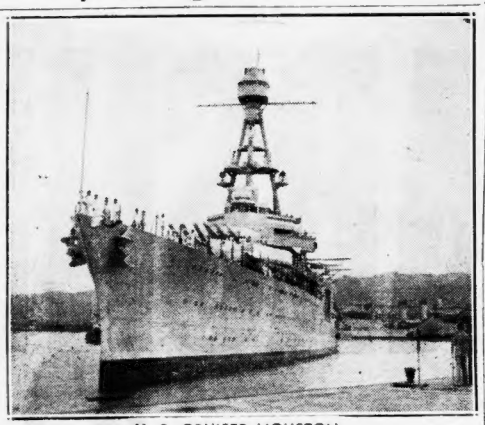
20 WARSHIPS LOST AT JAVA

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—The American cruiser Houston, the American destroyer Pope and 10 other warships of the United Nations were lost in the Battle of Java, the Navy disclosed today, adding that a 13th Allied ship was reported beached and presumed lost.

In the great battle in which they went down—British, Australian and Dutch along with the United States vessels—the United Nations accounted for eight Japanese warships.

The action started Feb. 27 between Bawean Island and Soerabaja and broke in its devastating fury through efforts of the United Nations' forces to block the landing of Japanese troops from convoys.

A thirteenth United Nations warship was listed as "presumed lost" and was reported beached.



U. S. CRUISER HOUSTON
Warship Lost in Battle Off Java

The Allied losses made public in a joint British admiralty and U. S. Navy Department communique which listed the Allied losses as:

CRUISERS — The Houston, United States; Exeter, British; Perth, Australian; Java, Dutch; Deruyter, Dutch.

DESTROYERS—Pope, United States; Kortenaer, Dutch; Electra, British; Jupiter, British; Encounter, British; Stronghold, British.

Others were the Yarda, Australian sloop, and the Evertsen, Dutch destroyer, listed as beached and presumed lost.

(A cruiser of the Houston type normally carries 700 men, while a destroyer of the Pope class is generally manned by 125 men. If there were no survivors it would mean American loss of life was approximately 825 officers and men.)

LIST JAPANESE LOSSES

The Japanese losses, according to the early reports obtained by the Navy, were one cruiser hit and burning, a cruiser sunk, a cruiser damaged, a destroyer sunk, a cruiser of the Mogami class on fire and possibly sinking, and three destroyers on fire and sinking.

The Houston, a 10,000-ton cruiser launched in 1929, was once the flagship of the commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet and was a favorite of President Roosevelt for use on ocean cruises.

The Pope, a "four stacker," World War type ship, was launched in 1920 at Philadelphia. The Pope was a 1190-ton vessel.

The greatest naval encounter of this war was fought in a screen of smoke put up by both Japanese and Allied warships.

The Japanese force consisted of at least nine cruisers, the Navy said, of which two were 10,000-ton ships armed with eight-inch guns.

The Japanese cruisers were accompanied by two flotillas of destroyers.

PERTH'S SHELL HITS

As described by the Navy, the action started at "extreme range," and almost at once one of the Japanese destroyer flotillas launched an attack, but this was driven off

REVEAL ATTACK ON AEF CONVOY

Chicago

March 14 (INS)

Thousands of American soldiers, transported in a huge convoy which beat off a Japanese attack without loss to itself, have reached Australia safely, the Chicago Sun stated today in a copyrighted dispatch from Sydney, Australia.

"Where the soldiers are debarking and what they are doing is a military secret," said the dispatch from the Sun's correspondent, Edward Angly. He added:

"It is possible now to reveal that the troop convoy in which I came to Australia three weeks ago was attacked on more than one occasion.

"Our protecting warships were quick to strike, and I have a notion that some of the Japanese who left home looking for trouble found so much of it in our company that they will never get home to tell the tale.

MELBOURNE, Australia, March 14 (AP)—The air ministry announced today RAAF bombers had raided a Japanese airdrome at Rabaul, New Britain, and heavily damaged grounded planes. A communique said:

"One direct hit was observed on enemy aircraft and another bomb probably destroyed two others. One heavy bomb exploded between 10 closely packed aircraft. Although results were not observed, they were probably considerable. Details of the attack on Gasmata (New Britain) Feb. 12 show airdrome runways damaged."

F.D. ASKS ALL STATES CUT TOP AUTO SPEED TO 40 MPH

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt has written state governors asking their co-operation to conserve rubber by limiting the maximum speed of all motor vehicles to 40 miles an hour and requiring frequent checking of tires for possible repair or re-treading.

The White House announced today that identical letters had been sent to the governors of all 48 States.

The text of the letters follows:

"My Dear Governor:

"As you know, we are doing everything possible to conserve rubber. The situation in the Far East makes this very necessary for the successful prosecution of the war effort.

"It has been said that a large part of our rubber stockpile is on the wheels of the more than 30,000,000 motor vehicles of the country. If this stock-pile is conserved by the individual motorists, as we are endeavoring to conserve the national stock-pile, tires will last much longer, cars will run much farther, and civilian life will be less disturbed because of lack of sufficient transportation facilities.

"Rubber experts agree that fast driving wastes rubber and that tires run many more miles when driven at limited rates of speed.

"May I suggest that this waste could be curtailed to the advantage of the individual motorist, and likewise to the advantage of the country, if the speed of all motor vehicles were limited to a maximum of 40 miles per hour and if regulations were promulgated requiring frequent checking of tires in order to insure their repair or, where possible, retreading at the proper time.

"I would greatly appreciate your co-operation in an effort to achieve these objectives throughoutthe country.

"The tire rationing program, so recently established by the Office of Price Administration, has been a marked success and has met with ready acceptance throughout the United States, largely because of the enthusiastic co-operation and participation on the part of the governors and their state defense councils.

"Reduction of speed limits and regular inspection of tires constitute another important means of Federal-State co-operation in the war effort."

Gov. Saltonstall, when advised of the President's request for a 40-mile-an-hour speed limit, said he would promptly comply.

Under his war-time powers, the Governor may set the speed limit under an executive order.

8 NAZIS SHOT DOWN OVER CHANNEL

London

March 14 (AP)

OFFICIAL NEWS

British fighter planes shot down eight German Messerschmitts in repeated dog-fights over the English channel today in a mid-morning follow-up of overnight raids in which the Rhineland industrial city of Cologne was hit hard by British bombers, an official announcement said.

The statement declared that not a British plane was lost in the channel battles.

(The German high command said earlier eight British planes had been downed by German fighters over the channel.)

The raid on Cologne was announced by the air ministry which said a "great weight" of high explosives was dumped on the city in a continuation of the RAF's pre-spring offensive.

The attackers left large fires burning in Cologne, center of a maze of water, highway and rail transportation lines, the ministry said. Other raids on Germany were implied in the statement that Cologne was "the main objective."

"Airdromes in occupied territory also were attacked during the night and mines were laid in enemy waters," the air ministry said.

Cologne drew attention after RAF squadrons had blasted the naval base of Kiel and pounded the German-occupied French coast in night and daylight raids.

British Scatter Axis Patrols in Libya

CAIRO, Egypt, March 14 (AP)—Artillery activity in dispersing Axis patrols in the Libyan sector was reported today by British Middle East headquarters.

AXIS REPORT QUEEN MARY TORPEDOED BELIEVED FAKE

A report that the great British liner Queen Mary had been torpedoed with 10,000 troops aboard was broadcast by Rome radio today, picked up by news services and received wide circulation in this country.

All reliable indications are that the Queen Mary is safe and that the report is Axis propaganda.

The Navy Department at Washington said it had no information or comment. London unofficially reported the claim had been proved incorrect.

The "torpedoing," according to Rome broadcast, took place soon after the Queen Mary left Rio de Janeiro a few days ago. An Axis report placing her in Rio is the only one received as to her whereabouts.

The Axis report is an apparent design to force an official announcement regarding whereabouts of the ship or to strike American morale.

Nazis Mutiny In French Areas

LONDON, March 14 (AP)—Free French headquarters said today it had received word of serious mutinies by German occupational troops stationed at Chalon-Sur-Saone, Dijon, Cosne and in the department of Manche in France.

At Dax and Arcachon, along the German-occupied French coast north of the Spanish frontier, German soldiers are reported to have shot some of their officers, the Free French headquarters said.

Nazi Air Idol Shot Dead by Hitler Order

By ERNEST ZAUGG
International News Service Staff Correspondent
Copyright, 1942

BERNE, March 14—Adolf Hitler ordered anti-aircraft batteries at Breslau to shoot down Germany's greatest air ace, Lieut.-Col. Werner Moelders, following a quarrel over Nazi brutality last November, reliable sources in Berne reported today.

Hitler issued the order after the 28-year-old colonel, credited with destruction of 115 enemy planes, had removed the coveted Knight's Cross decoration from his uniform and returned it to the Fuehrer in protest against the brutality of the Nazi S. S. troops, the sources said.

Lt.-Col. Moelders

It was announced officially in Berlin Nov. 22 that Col. Moelders had been killed in a Breslau crash while making a business flight in a transport plane. He subsequently was given a state funeral and the pursuit squadron which he commanded was designated by his name.

The government announcement at the time called Moelders "the bravest and best" of German pursuit pilots and termed his achievements "without precedent."

FLIER A CATHOLIC

Berne sources insist, however, that the colonel died because he demanded an audience with Hitler to express indignation over the manner in which S. S. troops had driven the monks from their convents in various parts of Germany.

Moelders was a pious Catholic and his sister, an abbess in a Muenster convent, had been forced to leave that province after receiving brutal treatment from the Nazis, it was said.

When Moelders first learned of the S. S. atrocities, he was fighting on the eastern front, according to the report.

Infuriated, Moelders left his squadron and went to Hitler's Russian headquarters, demanding an audience with the Fuehrer. Hitler refused to see the colonel, but sent out a stinging rebuke to him for leaving his squadron.

Then occurred the dramatic incident probably unparalleled in the war. On the breast of the young flier's uniform was pinned the knight's cross of the iron cross, highest military honor awarded by the German government. Attached was the oak leaf with swords in diamonds, conferred by Hitler a year earlier when Moelders had shot down his 40th enemy plane of the second World War.

DEFIANCE TO HITLER

The great ace ripped the decoration from his uniform, handed it to a Hitler aide and ordered it returned to the Fuehrer with the information that he would not accept an award from a state which treated its citizens in brutal fashion.

He then returned to his plane and took off for Breslau. In a fit of anger, Hitler cabled the German air field at Breslau that a Soviet plane disguised as a Nazi fighter and bearing decorations similar to those of Moelders' plane was planning to land at the base in approximately one hour. The plane should be shot down while landing, the Fuehrer ordered.

Moelders zoomed in for the landing. The Breslau anti-aircraft batteries opened fire.

The man who had shot down more enemy planes than even the great Baron von Richtofen crashed in flames, a victim of his respect for the servants of a church in a land where religious freedom cannot be tolerated.

Although the "accident" version was the official one, reliable sources in Berne estimated that 75 per cent of the German people have heard—and believe—the story that Moelders died because of the Fuehrer's order.

DRIVE TOTAL SOARS TO $21,493,331

BUY BONDS FOR MASSACHUSETTS BOOMBERS! Join in the glorious fight being staged by our gallant soldiers and sailors. Give Uncle Sam the money to buy equipment for these courageous lads who are offering their lives that you may continue to enjoy FREEDOM.

From the Bartenders and Hotel Employers Union, Local No. 34, AFL, of Boston, came a resounding patriotic pledge of $260,000 in BONDS for 1942.

The more than 2500 members unanimously voted to BUY BONDS and authorized their various employers to deduct two dollars from their pay envelopes each week.

John J. Kearney, executive secretary, estimated the members, 100 per cent in favor of the drive, will buy an average of $5000 worth of BONDS each week.

"I heartily endorse the Boston Record-American, and Sunday Advertiser campaign to BUY BONDS FOR MASSACHUSETTS BOMBERS," Mr. Kearney wrote, announcing his union's promise.

"It is my hope that this patriotic movement will receive the full support of every local citizen of this commonwealth and that MANY MILLIONS of dollars will be realized through the campaign."

Enthusiastically joining Mr. Kearney in these patriotic sentiments were Charles E. Yates president, and Chris Lane, secretary-treasurer.

First Lady Step Ahead Of Cleveland Reporters

CLEVELAND, March 14 4(AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, pausing here for breakfast today on her way from Washington to Oberlin to address an Oberlin College intercollegiate student conference, beat newspaper men to the question.

"Well, what do you think of the war?" she asked them.

The reporters stood silent.

"I'm going to Oberlin to talk on post-war reconstruction," said the nation's First Lady, who was traveling alone and wearing black cotton stockings. "Of course, the future cannot be predicted because we don't know what kind of a world this will be when the war is over.

"It is an uncertain future that we face, particularly the young people. The United Nations, whom I feel and know will be victorious despite setbacks now, will have to build a strong world on rational thinking, and not brute force."

After breakfast Mrs. Roosevelt refused offers to be taken to Oberlin by automobile and instead boarded a bus.

"I am not a sociologist," she said in parting. "And I don't know much about the relationship of man to man. But one thing is certain: Men will have to learn how to live together in sanity."

Draftee Held For Rash Stunt

Despite his plea that he meant no harm and was sorry for his "rash act," Thomah A. Waldron, 22, of North Beacon st., Watertown, was held today in $5000 for federal grand jury by Commissioner Edward Donovan on a charge of wilfully hindering administration of the Selective Service Act.

Waldron said he lost his temper when he grabbed service records of 15 fellow draftees en route by train to Fort Devens and tossed them out the door. He said he was willing to make amends.

He and his companions were turned back at Devens because they had no service records and draft officials said it would be necessary for all to go through the induction process again.

ACTING MAYOR NEUTRAL IN CURRAN FIGHT

Acting Mayor Thomas E. Linehan flatly refused to interfere today in the controversy raging around the selection of the Rev. Edward Lodge Curran as Evacuation Day speaker in South Boston tomorrow night.

"We will not ask the South Boston Citizens' Ass'n to do anything," Linehan told a group of opponents to Fr. Curran's selection, when he was asked to have the sponsors invite a speaker to present the 'other side.'"

Linehan told reporters:

"We (the city administration) deny any responsibility for bringing Fr. Curran to Boston. We had nothing to do with it."

IRISH ON SPOT

The opponents to Fr. Curran crowded into Linehan's office at City Hall and renewed their arguments against the Brooklyn priest's appearance in South Boston High School.

The Citizens' Ass'n, which had been asked by Linehan to appear today, failed to send a delegation.

The acting mayor told the group he would represent the city at tomorrow night's exercises. He said he "didn't believe" Mayor Tobin would be present.

Miss Grace Lonergan of Codman Hill ave., Dorchester, and teacher in Charles H. Taylor School, Dorchester, said she was present because "I don't like to see the Irish put on the spot."

TOBIN IN BROOKLYN

The Rev. Donald G. Lothrop, leader of the opponents, indicated a request may be made to have Mayor Tobin intervene. He was told the mayor would be in Brooklyn, N. Y., tomorrow morning to make a communion breakfast address before returning to Boston from a vacation in Florida.

Leon Serkin of Dorchester, who said he represented the Hecht House Men's Ass'n, Dorchester, questioned Linehan on the delagity of the $5000 appropriation provided the South Boston association.

Acting Police Commr. Edward W. Fallon said 30 extra policemen will be at the ceremonies in South Boston tomorrow night. City Hall telephones buzzed continually today as many persons sought to learn the hour and if space was available for them.

The latest opponent to Fr. Curran's appearance was the Rev. G Bromley Oxnam, bishop of the Methodist church, Boston area. He joined the group opposing the Catholic clergyman because of his alleged anti-Semitic utterances and his isolationism.

6 GOVERNORS ASK NATION TO SHARE GAS CUT

Describing the fuel situation in New England as "grave in the extreme," six New England governors today urged Oil Administrator Ickes to take steps for relief to prevent interruption of war production in this area.

The executives, called into emergency conference by Gov. Saltonstall sent the following telegram to Ickes:

"Fuel situation in New England is grave in extreme. Prompt and effective steps by Federal government must be taken to relieve situation on an equitable national basis, not for comfort or convenience of this region, but to prevent disastrous interruption of war production in one of the country's biggest industrial areas.

"We are sending our state fuel administrators to Washington at once to make their advice available and will urge our Congressional delegation to co-operate with you in reaching a solution.

"In the meantime, we are calling most urgently on the people of New England to cut use of fuels to the limit in order to keep our war machinery going."

The communication was sent after a three-hour session in the Governor's office attended by Army, Navy, public safety officials, and industrial leaders.

Present federal plans, outlined by Oil Administrator Ickes, call for establishment of rationing of gasoline in 17 eastern states only.

In an urgent appeal to New Englanders, the six executives called upon the people to take the following active steps at once:

"Cut down the use of fuel oil to the lowest possible point.

"Switch to coal wherever it can be done.

"Stock up on coal now.

"Cut use of gasoline to the barest needs."

Attending today's emergency session were Govs. J. Howard McGrath, R. I.; William H. Wills, Vt.; Robert A. Hurley, Ct.; Sumner Sewall, Me.; Robert O. Blood, N. H.; and Governor Saltonstall.

Also present were Lieut.-Col. Catesby Jones, U. S. A.; Capt. E. T. Hoopes, Navy supply corps; Comdr. S. C. Stengel, Navy civil engineer corps; Dudley A. Harmon of the New England Council and representatives of the Massachusetts Public Safety Committee.

Young Mother Admits Theft

Mrs. Marion L. Brunk, of Bates rd., Arlington, young mother of two small children, was held in $500 bail in municipal court today after she pleaded guilty to the theft of two diamond rings and the court declined jurisdiction in the case.

Also involved in the case, George Kamlot, 25, of Lawrence st., Roxbury, pleaded not guilty to two charges of receiving stolen goods and a charge of operating a second hand store without a license. He was held in $2500 bail.

Morton Sager, executive of a Washington st. jewelry store, testified taht on two occasions the woman had come to him saying she wished to buy a diamond and that after each visit he missed a ring.

This made him suspicious, he said, and when she came again on March 11, he took her into a private office where he laid out before her on a table two cases of diamond rings.

In a little while, after she had handled the rings, he said he noticed that one was missing.

"I said to her," he testified, "Mrs. Brunk, we cannot do business until we find that missing ring. I am going to leave you alone in this room for five minutes, and then when I come back we will start looking for the ring."

When Sager came back he said he found the ring—a $500 gem—under Mrs. Brunk's pocketbook, "and," he told the judge, "if we looked once under that pocketbook before I left, we looked six times."

Police say that Mrs. Brunk took the rings, valued at $430, to Kamlot, who bought them from her for a total of $240.

Invasion Still Ruling Thought in England

By CHARLES A. SMITH

LONDON, March 14 (INS)—Newspaper headlines and radio bulletins may feature news in the Far East, in Africa, and elsewhere, but the thought still uppermost in the minds of the British is whether Hitler this spring will try an all-out invasion attempt of these islands.

SUB FOR RUBBER—Homer Pilkington, former chemistry student at Heidelberg, now a Maryland farmer, believes he has found a substitute for rubber. A plant treated with chemicals formed the substance he's holding. Samples are in Washington for analysis.

For the recent thumb-nosing passage of the German fleet through the straits of Dover, and the numerous charges of alleged British inefficiency in high places which followed the German exploit, have done more than anything else to make the British people realize the English channel is not the inviolate "moat" it has been boosted up to be.

Prime Minister Churchill has never ceased warning the country that invasion will some day be tried.

The forcing of the straits of Dover by the German fleet may therefore be said to have done Britain a service in that few people now doubt that invasion will come, perhaps this spring, perhaps this fall, perhaps next year.

Two Lifers Ask Pardons

Two lifers, imprisoned for murder, today petitioned the state parole board for pardons and will be heard on March 27.

They were John Bowen, 30, of Quincy, who was convicted in 1932 of killing Harry Riddell, a baker, during an argument that followed a drinking party, and Joseph Sammarco of Boston, sentenced for the dance-hall murder of Patrolman William C. Clancy.

Bowen struck Riddell in a robbery attempt after the party. The baker, who was 60 years old, fell to the floor and injured his head. He died almost immediately.

Patrolman Clancy was shot on Jan. 22, 1920, shortly after he had asked Sammarco, then 22, to stop smoking and to remove his hat while dancing. During the succeeding argument the patrolman was punched and fell. As he attempted to rise he was shot.

Luisi Luck! Loses Toe for Sole Mio, As Rose O'Day Wins

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP)—Stefano Luisi lost a toe today attempting to prove that "O Sole Mio" was a better song than "Rose O'Day."

Wearying of a tavern music box record of "Rose O'Day," played by John Devlin, 30, an Irish patron with an endless supply of nickels, Luisi, Frank Cutrone and Ralph Deross attempted to break the monopoly by playing "O Sole Mio."

In the resulting controversy all four were ejected and agreed to settle the dispute by asking the next passerby which tune was better.

The passerby was Patrolman Vincent A McCarthy, in plain clothes. He promptly voted for "Rose O'Day."

Luisi picked up an iron bar. As McCarthy jerked his gun from its holster it fired, the shot striking Luisi's toe.

20 Naval Ships Sunk In Great Sea Battle

by Allied cruisers and one of the enemy destroyers was seen to be hit by shells from the Perth.

Soon afterward, the other Japanese destroyer flotilla delivered a torpedo attack, and while action was taken to avoid these torpedoes, the Exeter was hit by an eight-inch shell which struck in a boiler room.

She was forced to reduce speed and drop out of line.

Only one torpedo launched in the attack took effect, hitting the Netherlands destroyer Kortenaer and she sank

CHASE JAP FLEET

Three destroyers were ordered by the commander of this naval force, Rear Admiral Deoorman of the Dutch navy, to counter-attack the Japanese destroyers which were retiring under cover of a smoke screen.

Very little information, the Navy communique said, was available about the result of this counter-attack.

The Jupiter reported seeing only two enemy destroyers, both of which she engaged with gunfire. The Electra was not seen after she disappeared into the smoke screen and the Navy said "it is presumed she was sunk."

The Allied cruisers, including the Houston, drew clear of the smoke as soon as possible and again engaged the enemy at shorter range. Less than 30 minutes later, enemy cruisers turned away under cover of a smoke screen, but it was seen that one of their heavy eight-inch gun cruisers had been hit aft and was burning fiercely.

Late in the afternoon, Admiral Deoorman chased the enemy northeastward, but failed to regain touch with the foe in the fading light, the communique added.

JAP SHIPS TOO FAST

"After nightfall," it said, "the Allied cruisers sighted four enemy ships to westward and engaged them, but without definite knowledge of the results."

The Dutch naval commander attempted to work around these enemy ships in order to locate the convoy, which was expected to the northward.

"This was found to be impossible, owing to the high speed of the enemy," the communique explained, "and Admiral Deoorman then turned his force to southward to approach the coast of Java, intending to sweep westward along the coast in an attempt to intercept the Japanese invasion convoys.

"Half an hour after this Allied force had turned to westward along the Java coast H. M. S. Jupiter was disabled by an underwater explosion. She sank four hours later. H. M. S. Jupiter was not far from the mainland of Java, and a number of survivors have already reached Australia. A U. S. submarine assisted in the rescue of 53 survivors."

SUNK BY JAP SUBS

Navy spokesmen said the Jupiter undoubtedly was sunk by Japanese submarines operating in that vicinity.

That night at 11:30, the communique resumed, when the remaining Allied cruisers were about 12 miles north of Rembang, two enemy cruisers were sighted between our ships and the coast.

"Our ships at once engaged and a number of hits were secured on the enemy," the communique said.

"The Deruyter was hit by one shell. Afterward, the Deruyter made a change of course, presumably in order to avoid torpedoes fired by the enemy. The other Allied cruisers were following the Deruyter when underwater explosions occurred simultaneously in the cruisers Deruyter and Java. Both these Dutch cruisers blew up and sank at once.

JAP LOSS MAY GROW

"It is impossible to estimate with accuracy the damage inflicted upon the enemy during these actions of Feb. 27. Observers in the Perth considered that one Japanese eight-inch gun cruiser was sunk, a second eight-inch cruiser damaged, and a destroyer sunk. It has also been reported that a cruiser of the Mogami class was set on fire and three destroyers seriously damaged and left on fire or sinking.

"H. M. A. S. Perth and U. S. S. Houston, which had received some damage in this action, reached Tanjong Priok at 7 o'clock in the morning of Feb. 28. Five U. S. destroyers reached Sourabaya (Soerabaja) after the action.

"With the enemy in command of sea and air north of Java in overwhelming force, the Allied command was faced with the problem of extricating the remaining Allied ships from a very dangerous situation."

The route to Australia, the communiqua disclosed, was barred by the 600-mile-long island of Java, with the straits at both ends of the island under enemy control.

NO WORD OF HOUSTON

After dark on Feb. 28, the Perth and Houston left Tanjong prior to attempt to escape through Sunda Strait, at the western end of Java.

That night the Perth sent out a report which the communique said indicated that she and the Houston had contacted a force of Japanese ships off St. Nicholas point. Nothing, however, the Navy said, has been heard from the Perth or Houston since that time, and the next of kin of Houston are being informed accordingly.

The same night, the Exeter, capable of only half speed, left Soerabaja with the Encounter and the U. S. destroyer Pope.

On Sunday, March 1, the Exeter reported sighting three enemy cruisers steering toward her, and no further word has been received from any of the three Allied ships.

OTHER SHIPS MISSING

The Dutch destroyer Encounter met two Japanese cruisers in Sunda Sunda strait and was damaged and beached.

The destroyer Stronghold and sloop Yarra also were missing and presumably lost.

Capt. Albert H. Rooks, a native of Colton, Wash., was commander of the Houston and Lieut.-Comdr. Welford C. Blinn, who was born in Sparta, O., was commander of the Pope.

Rooks, whose residence was given by the Navy as Seattle, Wash., was 50 years old and had been awarded the Mexican service medal in 1914 and the Victory medal for World War service.

Blinn, whose residence was listed as New Smyrna, Fla., was 39.

Houston, Pope Bring U. S. Navy Losses to 11

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—The loss of the cruiser Houston and the destroyer Pope brings to 11 the total American warships announced by the Navy as lost through enemy action.

These losses include:

The battleship Arizona, the destroyers Cassin and Downes, the minelayer Oglala and the target ship Utah, all at Pearl Harbor; the destroyers Reuben James and Jacob Jones and the coast guard cutter Alexander Hamilton in Atlantic waters, and the naval tanker Neches, in an unidentified area.

TATTOO TRADE BOOMING NOW

Army, Not Navy, Responsible

LOS ANGELES, March 14 (AP)—A few months ago, tattoo artists were howling "we're starving to death." To their surprise, selectees just weren't coming in for pictures. They had expected a big boom, as in World War days.

In the last few weeks, however, tattoo artists have experienced their biggest boom in 20 years.

Soldiers suddenly became fighting men instead of civilians in uniform. For reasons tattooists do not try to explain, Army men felt they had to have a design—even a cheap one.

"They're buying more pictures than sailors ever did," said Painless Harry Warren as a customer squirmed under his needle.

Tattooists aren't getting rich despite the upsurge. There's too much "four-bit stuff." Those who have gone to camps pick up quite a few $2 and $3 jobs right after payday.

The tattoo boom extends to Mexican laborers and some defense workers who are making more money than they ever have.

That's what Painless Harry, Juan Leon, F. L. Cramer and Prof. Fraser—who's been mixing tattooing with vaudeville tours and marine scenes in oil for 40 years—in Los Angeles.

For 50 cents, you can get your name, or your sweetheart's or mother's; your social security number (a popular item now) or a small dagger.

In the good old days, there were a few demands for the Resurrection, $125; Virture in the Coils of a Serpent, also $125; the Last Supper, $75, or the Rock of Ages, $85.

Many a sailor has come back to a tattoo shop, bared a chest sporting a lusty nude and demanded:

"Put pants on her."

He doesn't ask the price. He's under orders. Luckily, pants are cheap—50 or 75 cents.

HITLER'S WORLD RULE PLAN INVOLVES JAP WAR ON REDS

LONDON, March 14 (AP)—A responsible foreign diplomatic source said today he had information Hitler has proposed a grandiose scheme of world conquest to Japan involving a Japanese attack on Russia and a joint German-Japanese campaign in Africa.

The information was said to have come from diplomatic listening posts and agents in Europe and the Far East.

This source said he had "absolute verification" of reports a Japanese military mission had been sent to Vichy-governed Madagascar off the African east coast.

Hitler's proposal to Tokyo, this source said, apparently involved:

1—Japan would push on into India from Burma and, at the same time, attack south and east Africa to cut British and American supply lines around cape.

2—Japan would attack Russia from Manchukuo "when the time is ripe" in an effort to help Hitler force the Soviet Union into a separate peace—by autumn.

3—Hitler would "force" the Vichy government to help supply Gen. Rommel's Nazi force in North Africa, and hand over two French battleships for raids to keep British and United States naval forces busy in the Atlantic.

4—Italy would be required to use her navy in a Nazi-directed Mediterranean sea campaign intended to break through to the Indian ocean to unite with Japan.

SERB REBELS RENEW RAIDS ON PRO-AXIS

BERN, Switzerland, March 14 (AP)—Despite recent official declarations that various parts of Axis-occupied Yugoslavia have been cleared of irregulars, Belgrade and Zagreb newspapers indicate increased guerrilla activity as spring approaches.

Hardly a day passes that these newspapers do not carry news of surprise attacks on pro-Axis government forces, raids on villages, sniping at trains and other disorders.

(Gen. Draja Mihailovic, who has resisted Germans, Italians and the Axis-sponsored government alike since Yugoslavia was invaded last April, was reported Feb. 9 to be recruiting additional men for his guerrilla army of 20,000.)

London Parade Of U. S. Troops

LONDON, March 14 (AP)—United States troops went on parade today in London for the first time since the start of the war. A small contingent marched into a park for inspection by an American colonel.

Traffic on one of London's busiest thoroughfares paused briefly while the troops passed.

English spectators noticed contrasts between the parading Americans and review of their own troops. One newspaperman remarked is was "not a spit and polish parade."

The Americans' shoes were clean, he said, but "there was not one highly polished pair." He added all the men "had impressive trouser creases which would have been a credit to English guardsmen."

Another was surprised during inspection of quarters when three men who had been on night duty continued to sleep when the colonel passed through. One of them heard the shout of "Attention!" but only turned over.

Japs Trying New Tactics in Burma

LONDON, March 14 (AP)—Japanese forces pressing the British defenders of Burma were reported today sending patrols northward in the Taikkyi area, although the main body of the Japanese invaders was well south of that Burmese town.

A British communique issued in Burma said British operations in the Nyaunglebin-Shwegyin area were proceeding satisfactorily. Nyaunglebin is on the Rangoon-Mandalay highway about 80 miles north of Rangoon, and Shwegyin is about 10 miles southeast of that point.

O'Hare Gets $15,000 Award

CHICAGO, March 14 (AP)—Naval Air Lieut. Edward H. O'Hare, who became a top ace of World War II last month when he was credited with one-day bag of six Japanese bombing planes, had a birthday—and a $15,000 present to go with it.

A decree was entered in Circuit Court declaring the 28-year-old flier to be the owner under a trust agreement of a half interest in $30,000 received from sale of a six-flat apartment building. The other half, the court found, belonged to O'Hare's father, the late Edward J. O'Hare, wealthy sportsman, who was mysteriously slain on a Chicago street in 1939.

VALIANT DUTCH STILL FIGHT IN JAVA AND OTHER ISLANDS

By VERN HAUGLAND

MELBOURNE, March 14 (AP)—Dutch troops still are carrying on a large scale fight against the Japanese in Java, Sumatra and the Celebes, Lieut.-Gov. Hubertus J. Van Mook of the N. E. I. declared here today.

"We are still in radio contact with Sumatra and hope to establish additional communication with Java," he said in an interview.

Dutch resistance might continue indefinitely, he added.

Van Mook said he had learned from a flier who escaped from Bandoeng that the invaders had been delayed an entire day by the unexpectedly successful delaying tactics of Dutch troops.

Without air protection, these troops had been expected to fall quickly, he pointed out.

"Their valiant day-long struggle gave our forces in Bandoeng many additional hours in which to escape.

"Japanese claims of capturing the entire forces are false and our men are fighting in the hills now.

"They are fighting a guerrilla warfare which does not require huge munitions and supplies and can live mostly off the land.

"Though Java is not as large as Sumatra and Celebes, where our troops might be expected to fight indefinitely, I am sure they will prove a major source of trouble for the Japanese for a long time."

Navy Launches 3 Ships in Maine

PORTLAND, Me., March 14 (AP)—Maine shipyards launched three vessels for the Navy today—a destroyer, a patrol boat and a minesweeper.

The destroyer, the O'Bannon, slid down the ways at the Bath Iron Works Corp. yards, Bath, and the patrol boat and minesweeper at the Rice Bros. Corp. plant in East Boothbay.

The O'Bannon is named for Lieut. Presley N. O'Bannon, U. S. M. C., first officer to raise the United States flag over the old world fortress during the war with the Tripoli pirates at Derna in 1805. Mrs. E. F. Kennedy of Washington, a descendant of the naval officer, sponsored it.

Mrs. Doris Rice sponsored the motor minesweeper and Miss Caroline Rice, a granddaughter of the president of the Rice Corp., the patrol boat.

14,000 NAZIS SLAIN IN RED TRAP

MOSCOW, March 14 (AP)—Red army troops have slain 14,000 Germans on the northwest front alone in 15 days of general offensive operations, and sporadic Nazi counter-attacks yesterday were costly and vain the Russians said today.

The zone of action was unofficially identified as the Staraya Russa sector below Lake Ilmen, where the 16th German army has been reported encircled for a month. It is a part of the combat area known also as the Kalinin front.

"During March 13 our troops continued offensive operations against the invaders," the Soviet information bureau said.

"On some sectors the enemy made counterattacks, which were repulsed with heavy losses to him."

Russians on the northwest front have captured six more populated points, the Soviet Bureau of Information reported, while the Red army in some sectors of the southwestern front inflicted severe losses on the enemy.

Almost 1000 of Adolf Hitler's men were declared to have died daily under Russian fire in the snows of the northwest.

REDS SPOILING SPRING DRIVE PLAN OF HITLER

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

Happily there are many signs to support the prediction by the Red Star, Soviet army publication, that the approaching spring offensive will be Russian and not German.

If this forecast proves to be true, it will mean that Hitler will continue on the defensive and will fight as the Bolshevists want him to—not as he has hoped. In short, it's calculated to make good the Muscovites' claim that they can beat the Nazi Napoleon this year, if their allies help out with equipment.

Moscow declares the Hitlerian war-machine is worn out from its bloody losses during the Nazi offensive last fall and from the terrific punishment it has received this winter, both from the enemy and from a killing cold that can be more devastating than bullets.

HITLER'S HUGE LOSSES

That claim still has to be substantiated, but there is no evidence at hand to controvert it, for the Reds continue their steady, if sometimes slow, advance at many points.

In any event, it's patent that the fierce Russian pressure is giving Hitler little chance to repair the ravages of the winter fighting. His men are dog tired and many of them are suffering from the effects of the sub-zero weather and privations. Moreover, the Germans have lost mountains of equipment, creating a grave problem of replacement.

Because of this situation, the remaining weeks before the late Russian spring unlocks the great rivers and clears the steppes of snow, are of utmost importance. From Leningrad as far south as Kiev, spring doesn't show itself until late April, and sometimes malingers into May.

CAVALRY PROVES WORTH

Thus the several weeks still remaining before spring along most of the front are golden ones for the Bolshevists. If things continue to go well they may be able to batter the Nazis into such a condition as to have won the first leg of the spring offensive before it even starts.

The Muscovites also are employing many ski troops and guns mounted on skis and sleds.

The Red offensive is hitting heavily at strategic points all along the line, from Leningrad down to the Sea of Azov. The operation which holds out the greatest possibilities, however, is the great drive which Marshal Timoshenko is making on the extreme south.

Here the marshal is said to be employing between 1,250,000 and 1,500,000 troops in an onslaught which appears to have two main objectives—(1) to regain control of the gateway to the Caucasus, which Hitler hopes to crush so as to get to the oil and other resources which he must have, and (2) to force the Germans out of the Crimea and restore the Red domination of the Black sea.

Many groups will meet in Greater Boston and will listen to prominent speakers at breakfasts following the church services. The Newton, Brighton and Brookline clubs will meet at Boston College and their program will be broadcast at 11:15 a. m. over WBZ.

7 BOYS HURT IN CHARLES ST. CIRCLE CRASH

Seven Allston youths were seriously injured today when their machine, heading into Boston over the West Boston bridge, failed to make the Charles st. circle, tore up 15 feet of cement abutment and buried itself in a steel-girded wall in a terrific crash.

Two Metropolitan police officers, who narrowly missed being struck by the automobile, quickly took charge of the victims—so swiftly that doctors at two hospitals credited them with saving the lives of several of the victims.

The driver of the machine, Edward J. Zbinski, 22, of Bradbury st., Allston, was taken to City Hospital and his name placed on the danger list. He was treated for a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Others at the same hospital, all critically injured, were James Pelrace, 20, of Riverdale st.; Joseph Annis, 17, of Adamson st.; Joseph Vacca, 25, of Riverdale st., and Thomas Kilbane, 30, of Franklin st.

Two others, taken to Massachusetts General Hospital, were less seriously injured. They were John Curran, 22, of Eastern ave., and James Brown, 21, of Westwood st.

Last Day for Big Tip Prizes

Today is your last chance to win part of the $100 total cash awards offered by the Boston Record-American and Sunday Advertiser for news tips this week and in addition 50 pairs of guest tickets for Loew's State and Orpheum Theaters, where the picture, "Woman of the Year," is now being shown.

The total of cash awards was raised from $25 to $100 for a limited period only, and this is the last day to take advantage of the offer.

If you learn of something of news value, be a reporter and earn some real cash. Just telephone LIBERTY 4000 and ask for the News Tip Editor. Your news tip may win the top award. Also, if you make any pictures, send in the films and we will develop them. They, too, may win a prize.

Act at once when something out of the ordinary happens. Time is of the essence. Spot your news and then call LIBERTY 4000. The News Tip Editor will take care of you.

'Rivals' Author Real Genius

Richard Brinsley Sheridan, who flourished as the wit and the dandy of the latter part of the eighteenth century and who wrote a little number called "The Rivals," which The Theater Guild is bringing to the Boston Opera House, Monday evening, died in poverty. He was Dublin's Stephen Foster.

Not that Sheridan wrote songs, although the records show that he did, but as a man he was much like Stephen Foster. He had his ups and his downs and he died without a farthing.

After his death, exactly 40 years after he had written "The Rivals" in 1775, his body was honored by a corner for poets in Westminster Abbey. It seems that similar honors have since gone to the memory of Foster. Wine, women and politics absorbed Sheridan; wine and a few women did likewise to Foster.

Both Sheridan and Foster were geniuses. One could write plays and the other could write songs. And both died in poverty.

Sheridan was born in Dublin in 1751, son of an actor-manager and a writer. He was a wit and a beau and he enjoyed joshing his social circles, giving to "The Rivals" a set of characters he had drawn from life.

He wanted his world rough and ready and the chances are that Margaret Anglin, Bobby Clark and Walter Hampden would be his choosing were he permitted to populate the 1942 version of his mad lark.

At 28 he quit the writing business and became manager of the Drury Lane in London. He took a crack at "Romeo and Juliet" and he wrote a new score for "The Tempest."

He then ambled about with the wine and the women, fighting a duel now and then, and generally keeping one step ahead of the bailiffs. He had plenty of laughs but never any money. His plays brought him considerable fortune, yet he was so deeply in debt that he seldom saw any of it.

GENE TIERNEY, who plays a desert siren in "Sundown," now headlining the Normandie screen bill. The co-feature is "Look Who's Laughing," with those famous radio teams, Fibber McGee and Molly and Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy.

Tarzan Film Tops Olympia's Program

"Tarzan's Secret Treasure," co-starring Johnny Weissmuller and Maureen O'Sullivan, is the Washington St. Olympia screen attraction. On the same bill is "Kathleen" with Shirley Temple, Herbert Marshall and Laraine Day.

Bijou Features 'Burma Convoy'

Bijou's screen attraction currently is "Burma Convoy," a Burma Road drama featuring Charles Bickford, Evelyn Keyes and Frank Albertson. The action takes place along the famous Asiatic highway.

The second feature, "Stagecoach Express," is the story of the Texas panhandle when it was an unorganized territory teeming with bandits and desperados. Don "Red" Barry is starred.

Amaya Dances Here in April

Carmen Amaya, sensational Spanish flamenco dancer, will make her local concert debut in Symphony Hall on Friday evening, April 24, offering the same program she gave in New York's Carnegie Hall last January.

She will be supported by a troupe of 10 gypsy dancers and musicians, featuring Antonio Triana.

After her Symphony Hall appearance, Amaya will leave for Hollywood and her initial screen role in "Panama Hattie."

CLYDE McCOY'S 'SUGAR BLUES' HIGHLIGHTS ORCHESTRA'S RKO BOSTON HIT

Bob Howard Stars at Piano

By PEGGY DOYLE

He's the real McCoy, of those famous, feudin' McCoys who've been entangling with those other Kentucky scrappers, the Hatfields, for two generations, but you'd never guess it to hear his sugary horn.

Anyway, the feud is a thing of the past like a spare tire, the draft-some McCoys and Hatfields having gone arm-and-arm to sign up to give the Japs the punishment they'd been giving each other and Clyde McCoy and his Sugar Blues orchestra are at the RKO-Boston.

With their "Sugar Blues" recording a best-seller in this record-conscious area, the McCoy outfit opened yesterday to a thoroughly receptive audience.

Their opening number, "Tear It Down," one of McCoy's own compositions, set a snappy pace but his better-known "Sugar Blues," providing as it does a background for the maestro's honeyed horn work, yielded the most applause during the hour-long stage session.

Top favorite on the bill is smiling, molasses-tinted Bob Howard, whose piano-playing is second only to his genial personality. "Shine" was his opener and a first-rate imitation of a mechanical player piano, his finale. Howard, who sings to his accompaniment, received the biggest hand for his rousing "Hats Off To MacArthur."

Carl Dawn's humanettes, notably an Ann Corio puppet and a pair of puppet acrobats, are an entertaining feature on the program, which is more than can be said for Chick and Lee, billed as "Nit-Wits of Nonsense."

The Four Bennett Sisters—they were three when the McCoy was last at the RKO-Boston, before the youngest received her high school diploma last spring—harmonize happily with "Booglie Woogie Piglie" and "He's 1-A in the Army." Later in the program they do some rhythmic taps. They are featured in the band number finale, "Sweet Sue," in which they are equally easy on ears and eyes, in stunning, black gowns.

"Ride 'Em, Cowboy," the new Abbott-Costello comedy hit, is the hold-over screen attraction.

Attract Fans

"The New Hellzapoppin'" at the Majestic and "Louisiana Purchase," the Shubert's tenant, enter their second and third week, respectively, on Monday evening.

When they presented the original "Hellzapoppin'" here four years ago, Olsen and Johnson doubled as stars. In the current production they have been succeeded by Jay C. Flippen and Happy Felton.

"Louisiana Purchase," Buddy De Sylva's Broadway musical hit with William Gaxton, Vera Zorina, Victor Moore and Irene Bordoni is the best musical buy of the season.

BEACON'S FILMS

"Wolf Man," starring Lon Chaney, Jr., Warren William and Claude Rains, and "Espionage Agent," a spy thriller, open a four-day run on Beacon screen tomorrow.

Beauty

YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL—Gail Patrick wears some clever accessories of Mexican Indian inspiration . . . that flaunt the same bold, vibrant beauty a new cosmetic shade has . . . described today by Arline Gould.

NEW MAKE-UP COLORS IN TIME FOR SPRING

By ARLINE GOULD

THE MOST ROMANTIC of inspirations in the the world today . . . the quiet of sun-drenched deeps of primitive Mexican territory . . . has brought the newest and most romantic of spring makeup colors. And you'll love it because it steps away completely from the well-marked trend of most spring makeup . . . and gives you something excitingly different. It's high style in makeup . . . as compared to unimaginative follow-the-leader trends . . . and thus it's so far ahead of the "followers" . . . that you'll use it confident of its individuality and chic.

From the bright wares of native craftsmen, the canvases of Mexican painters, scrapes from Oaxaca, lacquer chests from Guerrero, embroideries from Huixquilulcan, and the blood-red colors of a Mexican sunset, a toreador's cape . . . comes "cochinelle."

Intense and romantic as the sound of its name is the color, and it will light a girl's lips with an almost unbearable, fiery, new beauty.

Its creator, who brought the color into this country with her rare and valuable collection of the native arts and crafts and primitive paintings, says that it has a strength and power American women need now, when they're occupied with the grave tasks of war, and yet must keep their faces gay and vibrant.

In it are fascinating undertones . . . just as brilliant sun shafts of a toreador's cape bring out more than the high-strung crimson, so you see sun under its red shade. It makes teeth whiter by contrast, eyes sparkling and complexion glowing.

You'll intensify its effect by following through with the nail lacquer to match, and the rouge. Be sure, no matter what your coloring, to use a touch of black mascara with it . . . a little if you're accustomed to using brown, a lot if you already use black. A wonderful springtime gift to yourself is the complete ensemble of this makeup in a fascinating hand-painted miniature Mexican chest, like a peasant girl's wedding chest, for $5.50.

To learn about this new makeup phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, except the week-end, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

NEWS FOR MODERN WOMEN

By Martha Lee

By MARTHA LEE

WHILE WE ARE LOOKING to our ramparts as a nation, we must also keep in mind the individual family units, for the nation is no stronger than its people. Recent Army and Navy examinations have proved we need to grid up our physical strength as well as our military might. As families, we have for too long been badly nourished. Some of us have suffered from undernourishment, but most of us have been the victims of malnourishment. We have not eaten as well as we have produced. Our American tradition of solid, heavy dinners has not included the vital protective foods we need to build sound bodies. Too often we have thrown those foods away, or used them as farm fodder. We have often fed our cattle better than our children.

Since the military crisis has exposed ths national need, the government has put the responsibility squarely up to the homemakers to remedy this serious situation. The first thing each of us must do is consider exactly what foods, and what proportions of these foods, our families need each day for proper nourishment. Here we are fortunate, for the government has recently prepared a simple chart of essential foods needed for a balanced daily diet. This includes the following:

MILK: 1 qt. for each child; 1 pint for each adult.

Milk has a big part in body-building and contains vitamins and minerals that protect health. Fresh milk and diluted evaporated milk are about the same in nutritive value.

VEGETABLES: 1 serving potatoes, sweet or white; 3 servings vegetables—1 leafy, 1 raw and 1 yellow.

Eat potatoes for energy, but also because they furnish protective vitamins and minerals. Vegetables aid growth and repair and protect against illness because of their high vitamin and mineral content.

FRUIT: 1 serving citrus fruit or tomatoes; 1 serving of another fresh or canned fruit.

Fruits are important protective foods — and the citrus fruits (oranges, grapefruit, lemons, tangerines) certain others and tomatoes supply vitamin C, the vitamin which helps to protect against infections and is important for dental nutrition.

EGGS: About 1 per day—at least 3 a week.

Eggs furnish important nutrients for body growth—as well as for health protection.

FISH, MEAT, CHEESE: Serve once a day, sometimes twice. (Baked Beans may sometimes be substituted.)

These are protein foods which provide building materials—also such protective elements as iron and the B vitamins.

BREAD OR CEREAL: Have 2 servings of "enriched" or whole grain kind in meal plan each day.

Breads and cereals are energy foods—but when they are "enriched" or whole grain they also provide vitamin B, which is essential for a healthy nervous system and general health.

BUTTER or substitute containing vitamin A should be served every day. Sweets in moderation.

The vitamin A in butter or a substitute is a valuable aid in resisting infections and is essential in preventing "night blindness." Sweets provide energy, but one should avoid eating them to excess.

Now this daily guide, when you examine it, begins to fall in patterns, and make menus by itself. There is not a complicated thing about it, for you see it is still breakfast, luncheon, and dinner, with a few extras added to complete the daily food allotment. Take a pad of paper and a pencil, and, before you know it, you will have jotted down a pattern of planned meals for the week. To start you off, here are some suggestions based on simple fresh foods and the nutritionally rich, ready-to-serve canned foods available to everyone.

BREAKFAST

WRITING TO DOCTOR IN SERVICE?

A doctor who is in the service is addressed as "Lieutenant," "Captain," or whatever his rank. Don't use his civilian title "doctor" or his "M. D." degree when writing to him.

Fashion

KNIT FOR FUN . . . once in a while . . . and from those steel needles on which khaki or navy or air-force blue yarn has been dangling as it shaped up into socks, let a more frivolous shade of yarn shape up into the cutest of mop-pets for you and all the girls on your gift list or family. They're "stop and go" socks with fringed feet, made of white knitting worsted embroidered in scarlet and green for the signals. A piece of the sole fringe slipped on a bobby pin makes an attractive hair ornament. For directions, write Annice Brink, Boston American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BOLERO JACKET FRONTS REALLY ARE ONE-PIECERS

By BETTINA BEDWELL

IN WATCHING the parade of spring fashions shown by leading designers, I have noticed the way the bolero dress keeps appearing and reappearing. It's a long time since this kind of dress was an important item in our styles, but there is no doubt about its importance this spring.

Many of the best dresses I have seen around have bolero jacket fronts with contrasting blouse fronts under them. They look, at first glance, like suits, but are one-piece dresses, and can be worn under a coat right now.

Maria Krum, who is one of the best designers of knitted styles, uses the bolero dress, too. She says that the knitted dress is apt to fit too close over the bosom, and so she makes one with a bolero front and a crepe blouse front under it, to avoid this.

Her model is shown. The dress is hand-knitted with a heavy cable stitch and made of navy blue yarn. The crepe blouse front is red shantung, with a soft bow tie at the neckline.

Average People Play Great Parts

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, Friday—Yesterday I finished John Steinbeck's new novel "The Moon Is Down." It is quick to read and you will hardly want to lay it down. Mr. Steinbeck has laid the scene in a small conquered country, but, of course, it is pertinent to any country where free men live.

The mayor of the town describes himself as a "little man." In other words, he is one of the people. Therefore, in explaining to the colonel of the invaders' regiment why he simply cannot order certain things to happen, he says: "You won't believe this, but it is true; authority is in the town. I don't know how or why, but it is so. This means we cannot act as quickly as you can, but when a direction is set we all act together."

From this it follows logically to the conclusion, where the little man knows he is to die. The mayor turns again to the conqueror, who can never conquer the souls of free men, and says: "You see, sir, nothing can change it. You will be destroyed and driven out. The people don't like to be conquered, sir, and so they will not be. Free men cannot start a war, but once it is started, they can fight on in defeat. Herd men, followers of a Leader, cannot do that, so it is always the head men who win battles and the free men who win wars."

[illegible] dramatically and I understand the play will open in New York at the end of [illegible] I have not had time to read it. But I know I shall like it. I like plays in which the tendency will be to show these people as they are, [illegible]

It may not be a very heartening [illegible] as everywhere to see [illegible] the stage and to realize [illegible] only give people with whom they [illegible] to heroic numbers, but you will find the average people, play great parts and have great moments [illegible]

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM R. BASCOM came to lunch today to bring me casts of African bronzes from Nigeria. The originals of these casts were shown in New York City last winter.

Mr. Bascom is an expert on West Africa, having had a research fellowship in social studies among the people there. There is a great dignity about the heads which he brought me, and I know the President will be much interested in seeing them. These continents where there are natives practically untouched by our type of civilization, will become increasingly interesting to us when this war is over.

FRIENDS of debutante Mary Alberta Greenwood are expecting to hear romantic news at the tea which her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Greenwood are giving at their home in Gardner, Mass., this afternoon . . .

The invitations include also the name of Warren G. Dellenbaugh which sounds suspiciously as though Danny Cupid has scored another well-aimed shot with his darts . . .

Mary made her debut this past winter, is a professional member of the Junior League, and a student at the Stuart School in Boston . . .

Warren is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Dellenbaugh of Chestnut Hill . . .

ECHOES OF THE VINCENT SHOW—Vincent Club dancers are always high kickers but Ginny Marston got more altitude than all the rest in one of the chorus numbers on opening night . . . The dance routine called for a 1, 2, 3, and a high kick, kick, and at the top of the kick Ginny's silver slipper came off her foot and sailed 10 or 15 feet up in the air . . .

If it hadn't sailed so high no one would have realized what had happened for like a professional trouper, Ginny went right on dancing with one shoe off and one on . . .

The war caused cancellation of Bolling Byrd's lavish debut ball which was to have taken place in February . . . but Bolling made up for this disappointment by having a chance to shine before the footlights in the Vincent show . . . She performed a comedy act all by herself . . . Usually shy and retiring, she surprised her friends with her poise and ability at pantomime before a large audience . . . Her father, Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, watched her act from a front row balcony seat . . .

Vincenters developed a new method of carrying coals to Newcastle . . . Each night of the show a prize is awarded to the holder of the lucky number program . . . When the drawing was made to find the winner of $20 worth of dancing lessons, there was a long pause and no one in the audience seemed to have the stub . . . Then all of a sudden the stage door at the side of the hall burst open and Carol Warren, all dressed up for her next chorus number, came out to claim her prize . . . She looked quite pleased . . . but dancing lessons as a prize to a chorus girl after six solid weeks of rehearsal, dancing day in and day out — we wonder? . . .

Mary Greenwood, flashing a brilliant diamond on her left hand, attended the show with Warren Dellenbaugh and stopped to chat between the acts with Lalla Withington . . . Mary's blonde hair was accented by a white lace dinner gown with a full skirt appliqued with bands of flame lace . . . Mrs. Channing Frothingham Jr., whose lieutenant husband is an usher at Harley Parker's wedding today, shared a table at the show with Harley's mother, Mrs. J. Harleston Parker of Beacon st.

North Shore Bridal

Margaret Kenway Weds

Wearing a gown of white satin with a deep net yoke and a fingertip veil attached to a coronet fashioned of her mother's and grandmother's Duchesse lace, Miss Margaret Tucker Kenway of Beverly is being married this afternoon to Major F. Stansbury Hayden, U. S. A.

The 4 o'clock ceremony is being performed by Rev. Frederick Morris of Beverly and Rev. Richard Baker of Baltimore, in Grace Church, Salem. A reception follows at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Kenway of Beverly.

The bride is being given in marriage by her father. In place of a bouquet she is carrying an ivory prayer book. Her attendants, Mrs. Herbert Phipps Kenway of Marblehead, and Mrs. Frederick Porter Todd of Washington, are wearing period gowns of ciel blue faille with matching hairdresses and carrying bouquets of spring flowers.

Frederick Porter Todd of Washington is serving as best man and the large usher staff includes many of Maj. Hayden's fellow officers.

The bride's mother is wearing a gown of wood rose lace and chiffon with a flower toque. The groom's mother, Mrs. William H. Hayden of Baltimore, is unable to attend.

The bride graduated from North Shore Country Day School and from Wellesley in 1939. Major Hayden received a Ph. D. from Johns Hopkins University and is a member of the St. George's Society, the Bachelors Cotillon of Baltimore and the University Club of Washington.

CAMPUS LOVE ENDS IN DEATH OF BRIDE, 21

CHICAGO, March 14 (INS)—Peter Dobinsky, 21-year-old Drake University graduate, today awoke to find his attractive bride of eight months dead in bed following a night of bitter quarreling in which he admitted having choked her.

Dobinsky said his wife, the former Jane Robinson, 21, of Hampton, Ia., daughter of a prominent Iowa farm loan company executive, left him a week ago for her parents' home, but had returned last night.

Relating how they had met on the Drake campus, where she also was a student, Dobinsky told police they had argued often since their marriage last July.

At a stormy police station session in which the prisoner struck newspaper photographers, Dobinsky said he had been a houseboy at his wife's sorority at college in Des Moines.

The romance blossomed into marriage and together they came to Chicago last summer, where Dobinsky got a job as a clerk.

He said that last night he repeated a request for a divorce, insisting the marriage "would never work out." Mrs. Dobinsky pleaded with him to become reconciled, he continued, and grew angry when he declined.

"Jane hit me twice," he added, "and I grabbed her by the throat. When I'd finished she lay quietly on the bed. I lay down on the davenport and went to sleep."

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

International News Service Staff Writer.

We submitted the proposition "all of us should be drafted and told what to do" to our local slide rule instructor for clarification.

He advised filing it in the folder with plans for perpetual motion machines.

He said "If all of us are drafted who will be left to tell us what to do? Or are we going to tell each other and if so isn't that what we are doing now?"

He said "If it means that all of us except a few should be drafted and told what to do I wish to note an objection."

He said "I should like to put it in the record that we are now engaged in a war against nations in which a few are telling the many what to do."

He said "I don't like it."

He said "Think it over."

Thought for the day: Always read the fine print before you sign.

New Jersey Can Use Him If Any State in Union Can

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 14 (AP)—Philip Granett has scratched 300,000 mosquito bites in the past seven years, and now he is going to expose himself to more skeeters, bed bugs, chiggers, horseflies, ticks, greenhead flies, body lice and sand flies. It's all in the interest of science.

Granett, an entomology research fellow at Rutgers University, developed a highly effective mosquito repellant by using himself as bait. His goal is to discover a chemical which will repel or kill all insects that bother mankind.

Ruling Waited On Flag Rebel

Members of the Boston school committee today deliberated the future, teaching status of Miss Doris Seary, first grade teacher in the Beethoven School, West Roxbury, following a two-hour hearing on her refusal to pledge allegiance to America and salute the flag.

The 30-year-old teacher, a member of the sect Jehovah's Witnesses, is now under suspension and the committee called on her to show cause why she should not be dismissed.

Quoting repeatedly from the Bible, Miss Seary contended that her refusal to salute the flag was no more serious than a violation of the automobile laws.

Why Some U. S. Army Sergeants Go Mad These Days

FORT GEORGE G. MEADE, Md., March 14 (AP)—"Loftus, front and center!"

Out of the lineup of Company A, the reception center, advanced two men.

"Joseph Loftus!" bawled the non-com.

Two men stepped another pace forward.

"Joseph F. Loftus!!"

The same two took another step.

"Joseph Francis Loftus!!!" in a desperate tone.

And again the pair advanced.

Although the two had never seen each other before, they came from the same draft board in Scranton, Pa.

The Masked Jury

LOVELESS UNIONS

ARE THEY RISKY?

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN OF THE JURY: For almost three years I have been calling on a woman who is about everything I want in this world. I usually see her twice a week and I have proposed to her several times.

She told me once that she had been in love with a man and could never love anybody else again. Although I knew all about that affair I thought I could change her mind.

I have a fairly important position and have managed to save a little nest egg. It is enough to make a nice home for someone. Recently, when I proposed again, she said she would marry me if I still wanted her, but that she wanted it understood that inasmuch as she don't love me—only respected and liked me—she could never be expected to give me real happiness.

I love her and always will, I guess; but I can't help feeling she may find someone else some day and I'm afraid it would mean too much to me to lose her. Sometimes I almost wonder if it would be better to give her up if I don't have her love.

Do you think a man should marry a woman who only "respects" him? T. J.

HOW THE JURY VOTED
Women: Yes, five; No, one
Men: Yes, four; No, two

HOUSEWIFE: If they are old enough to appreciate other qualities in each other and can find pleasure in their companionship, I say yes.

SALESGIRL: No. Without love there isn't anything in marriage.

BARBER: Yes. After a while the honeymoon is over, anyway. Love is overrated; that's kid stuff. The point is: can you get along?

CLOTHING SALESMAN: Yes. If she respects him she will make him a good wife.

OFFICE WORKER (woman): Yes. Maybe she will learn to love him later. If he loves her, that's the most important thing.

CITY EMPLOYE (woman): Yes, in this case. She knows him well enough after three years and if she is willing, he should be, too.

BRIDGE ATTENDANT: No. I never thought that was a good idea. It gives a woman too many excuses to run around.

TRAINMAN: Yes. Most people pay too much attention to this love business when stopping to think. Marriage is suited to each ...

NURSE: Yes. Theres' such a thing as being a person to love ... and ... realizes that much of ... he should marry her.

POLICEMAN: Yes. He should ... as she is.

CAFE OWNER: No. Those marriages are too risky. Women who don't love their husbands don't make good housekeepers.

SWIMMING INSTRUCTOR: Yes. A feauw who keeps proposing to a woman for three years is lucky to win her, with or without ...

Personal Reply

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I have a problem which is breaking my heart. Could I write to you and receive a personal reply if I enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope? My problem is very personal and I need the advice I know you can give. MRS. X.

Every letter which comes to this column containing a self-addressed, three-cent stamped envelope will be given a personal reply. Letters are absolutely confidential. No one sees them except myself, and they are burned as soon as answered.

Sometimes the answer may be a little slow in reaching correspondents, particularly when I have to consult a government bureau like the War or Navy department, in replying to soldiers' and sailors' inquiries.

Have Perfect Wedding

Your wedding can be beautiful in wartime! Proper planning and traditional bridal etiquette—these make a wedding lovely and these you can have, even if HE is in the service and time is short.

The first thing, the bride budgets her family's expenses; for a large church wedding they include invitations, fees at the church (for music and the sexton's services), decorations and refreshments.

The grom's expenses are the license and ring, the clergyman's fee and usually the bride's bouquet.

Send 15 cents (plus one cent to cover cost of mailing) for our booklet, "How to Plan Your Wedding," to Boston Evening American, Home Institute, 109 West 19th st., New York, N. Y. Write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

OUR DAILY CITATION: To the courageous crews of the U. S. Army flying bombers which yesterday carried out devastating raids on Japanese-held airdromes in New Guinea and shot down five enemy pursuit planes. This is the way to stop the Japs.

OFTEN you hear of cargo vessels and oil tankers being sunk in the Atlantic and Pacific by Axis submarines and surface raiders.

THE VALIANT SEAMAN
His Spirit Endures

Sometimes you see newspaper pictures of fortunate survivors, rescued and brought to shore after days and weeks of abandonment upon the open sea.

And sometimes there is only silence—silence that tells you that somewhere out there where waves rise mountain-high and winds rage with hurricane fury young men, brave men, truly worth while men have gone down with the shattered remnants of the ships they served.

Such is the story of America's merchant seamen who are daily running the gantlet of enemy marauders to carry food and weapons to the fighting forces in distant lands.

Next time you say a prayer for the heroic men with General MacArthur in Batan and those who are fighting and dying on the other battle fronts, say one also for the merchant seamen.

They are serving you just as courageously and just as surely risking their lives to speed the day of victory for America.

YOUR NEXT BABY or next grandson or next godchild, will it be a boy or girl?

According to reputable medical authorities, the child will probably be a boy.

This is one of the great and never satisfactorily explained mysteries of wartime.

For some unknown reason, babies are preponderantly male whenever nations start shooting at each other. It was true in the numerous conflicts of the Napoleonic Era. It was true in World War No. 1. And it is true today.

The widely read magazine Hygea, published by the American Medical Association, offers this interesting theory:

"The ratio of males to females at birth is known to diminish as the age of the mother increases. During a war proper, many of the younger men are away from home, and relatively more of the older women (the mates of the remaining, generally older men), become mothers, causing a decrease in male births. Then when the war is over and the younger men return, there is a marked upswing in male births."

But this does not account for the fact that more sons than daughters are being born at the present time when the end of the war is nowhere in sight.

Perhaps the explanation lies in Mother Nature's determination to preserve the human race in spite of man's own efforts to destroy it.

YOU MAY HAVE TIRES for your automobile in the not-too-distant future, despite the doleful predictions of Price Administrator Henderson and other Washington gentlemen.

The American mind which produced such marvelous things as the telephone, radio and airplane is not going to be defeated by such a relatively simple problem as a rubber shortage.

Synthetic rubber that will be vastly better than the natural product is on its way. That's as certain as tomorrow's sunrise.

Down in Louisville, Ky., Dr. Paul Kolachov says an industrially practical substance closely resembling rubber can be obtained from a dandelion called koksagyz.

Properly cultivated and developed, this long-ignored plant will yield elastic fiber for automobile tires and other purposes for as little as 25 cents a pound.

Of course, Dr. Kolachov is only one of the thousands of men engaged in the rubber hunt. Your next-door neighbor may be experimenting, too.

The person who finds the best source will emerge as one of the great heroes of this period of emergency. And he'll undoubtedly sell his discovery for millions!

SWEATER GIRLS are taboo in the big ordnance plant in Denver, Colo.

Officials have issued strict orders that young women employes must cease wearing the type of feminine garment that brought Lana Turner her first fame in motion pictures.

The reason is that sweaters are supposed to distract men.

Men whose thoughts wander cannot work efficiently. Then war production slows down.

What will we hear next?

Fan-dancing in the civilian defense organization, bowling games to stimulate national morale—when are we Americans going to declare a moratorium on nonsense and wake up to the fact that the United Sta' Is is fighting for its very life?

On The Side

-:- -:- By E. V. DURLING

Little son, we both have passed
An hour of danger when the blast
Of terror knifed each narrow bone.
Little son, we stood alone,
Death pursuing you and me
Like a panther none can see.
Then a curtain dropped release
And we were drifting into peace
Toward miracles of healing sun
Moved the life we both had won.

– LUCIA TRENT.
(Hour of Birth.)

ABOVE is by request of a mother of Detroit who has just given birth to her first child, a boy. You might read it over carefully, too, sir. Will give you an idea what your mother went through to bring you into the world.

RECENTLY STATED that before the Pearl Harbor incident my dog never barked at passers-by, but that after that incident he began barking and snarling whenever he saw a Japanese. Said I didn't expect anybody to believe this, but that it most certainly was true. Also said the only way I could figure it out was that the pup sensed my resentment on seeing a Jap and barked accordingly. Now a lieutenant commander in the U. S. Navy says he believes the story. And that he also thinks I have the reason for the pup's conduct figured out. "Dogs are mind readers," says the lieutenant commander. "I have seen this proven many times."

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q. Ever hear of my old home town of What Cheer, Iowa? A. Certainly. Willie Shaw, the great jockey of yesteryear, was born in What Cheer. Q. Do you know of any men of five feet two inches and under who have been good husbands and earners of large salaries? A. Indeed I do. Many of them. To name a few: Nick Wall, Adolph Zukor, Ernest Truex, Miller Huggins, Carl Laemmle, Mervin Leroy and Marcus Loew. Q. When you named Speaker, Lewis and Hooper of the Boston Red Sox, the best outfield ever in the American League, you were exactly right. Now what was the best ever in the National League? A. You sort of have me there, sir. To name what could be styled a truly great outfield in the National League you might have to go back to Sheckard, Hoffman and Schulte of the Old Cubs.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Say you have five in the family and they all want a turkey leg for Thanksgiving Dinner. If you live around greater New York your problem is easily solved because a chain of stores there will sell a whole or any part of a turkey. So you could buy a turkey and three turkey legs on Thanksgiving and your whole family would be happy. This is indeed a century of progress if you don't count the two World wars . . . Writes Joe Madden, the cafe owner with a personality: "Max Ferrel is very nervous as he is about to become a pappy. But his little wife, Hope, isn't nervous at all. Funny ain't it?" . . . "So you, a Brooklynite, name the Waldorf-Astoria as the largest hotel in New York City," writes a Brooklynite named Edith. "Don't you know the Hotel St. George in Brooklyn is the largest, you traitor?"

PASSING BY: John Lardner. Sports columnist. Son of the great Ring Lardner, who would be mighty proud of his boy at this time. Though married and the father of two children, John has enlisted in the Army . . . Dinah Shore, Torch song specialist. Has been named "Queen of the Regiment" by the 7th Regiment, New York National Guard. Has always seemed to me the girl named "Daughter of the Regiment" or "Queen of the Regiment" should not be stage, screen, radio or film celebrity but rather the daughter of some member of the regiment. Or a descendant of some of the heroes in the regiment's history . . . Elmore White. Erstwhile vaudevillian, who says quite emphatically: "Listen, the three greatest vaudeville acts to ever grace the stage were the Avon Comedy Four, Imhoff, Conn & Corinne and Victor Moore and Emma Littlefield in "Change Your Act or Back to the Woods." Three very good acts, says I. But how is it that these fellows naming "great" vaudeville acts leave out the truly greatest act of all? All men of discernment will know I am referring to Houdini, the Handcuff King.

He says the ladies' dresses in California are even shorter than they are in Detroit. That is pretty short"* . . . From an Army baker at Camp Edwards: "As to that idea of using boiling water to make a good pie crust, I tried it. It made a lousy crust and all the boys in the battery bawled me out about it. It is cold water for pie crust for me after this" . . . From a young matron of New Hampshire: "My husband took the money we had saved up to buy a washing machine and bought defense bonds with it. Said he: 'This will be a patriotic thing for us to do.' I am the one that will have to keep on hand-washing the clothes."

PLEASE NOTE: Many baseball stars enlisted in World War I among them such shining diamond lights as Ty Cobb, Christy Mathewson, Eddie Grant, Hank Gowdy, Gabby Street, Rabbit Maranville and Leon Cadore. No film star of the standing of Jimmy Stewart enlisted in World War I. Nor did any boxer of the caliber of Joe Louis enlist in World War I. Gene Tunney was in the Marines, but before the World War he was an amateur boxer.

JUST FOR THE RECORD (the Congressional Record!): Lieut.-Commander Walter Winchell has never worn his Navy uniform at a radio microphone. (b) The money he receives for broadcasting—in mufti—goes to Navy Relief. (c) His summer paycheck for naval duty, which a press service anxiously reported was $200, was endorsed over to Navy Relief five minutes after he received it. (d) He has been a lieutenant commander in the Navy since 1934, when most Congressmen weren't interested in the Navy; he is a year over the draft age—45—and has a wife and two children. (e) Since Dec. 8 he has repeatedly requested active duty. His admiral feels he is more valuable "inactive." "Inactive," Winchell raised $150,000 for the widows and orphans of Navy men.

Some inactivity!

What About MacArthur?

SHALL WE SEND men, and ships and planes to aid General MacArthur in beleaguered Bataan? From everywhere come expressions of opinion.

Writing from faraway Sydney on the dire need for strong United States reinforcements to save Australia from Japanese conquest, Joseph C. Harsch, staff correspondent, says in the "Christian Science Monitor":

"If these reinforcements were accompanied by the appointment of General Douglas MacArthur to command this area Australians would feel that a victory combination had been forged.

"For the stand of General MacArthur and his men has caught the imagination of everyone in this part of the world. Any other General would be open to suspicion in the minds of the soldiers that he may also think in terms of strategic retreats which have characterized all past Allied operations. With General MacArthur in command the individual fighting man would feel that he was serving under a general who wanted to win and therefore that his individual efforts were worth while.

Experience in the Malay and Java campaign emphasize the extreme importance to morale if the troops have confidence that their General is a fighting man. Unless the man in the front lines believes this he is inclined to get a defeatist psychology and begin to feel more concerned over his individual safety than in fighting to the end.

"Obviously there are plenty of other Generals who may equal or even exceed General MacArthur as strategist. But General MacArthur is the man whose appointment would [illegible] make the individual fighting man more certain of the value of fighting resolutely."

AN OUT-SPOKEN AMERICAN who signs himself 'The Reverend' a name to Editor states his views in this interesting letter:

'Upon reading your article in Tuesday's American concerning 'Aid to MacArthur,' I summoned up in my mind many of the things that contributed to our country's greatness. Predominant in this was the fact that we have always, through the grace, mercy and kindness of God, had leaders incomparable with their contemporaries in other parts of the world.

"I say incomparable not in the sense that our Washingtons, our Jeffersons, our Monroes and our Lincolns presented greater qualifications in matters of State, but in the sense that they were above all things men of decision, men in whom not only our united people, but an entire world might well have had supreme confidence.

"We have had our great soldiers, our great patriots, our martyrs to freedom; and we cherish their memory in that we are today a free people.

"Yes, we are free: free to talk, to worship, to pursue our individual likings as we see fit.

"Men like these have made it so. The rabble-rouser didn't help, Mr. Editor. The millions of Donald Ducks who cry loudly, though aimlessly, never won a war or saved an army.

"It was George Washington, Mr. Editor, that saved the men and Republic at Valley Forge, not the tea-less ladies on Beacon Hill. It was Lincoln who saved the Union, not the Missourians who yelled and screamed for a better deal.

"Now, don't you think that our military headed by our Commander-in-Chief can develop a strategy that might make yours look sick. Else why do we put up with such foolishness as West Point." Or can we win this war with the mighty pen."

"If the people give their non-expert opinions on what strategy should be used in this noble fight, it will only confuse the issues.

'Telegrams to our President should read: 'We are with you in whatever you undertake. In God we trust and to you we look for [illegible] matter. NOT 'I think you're a [illegible] at [illegible]'

'It is possible to give this and if it is wise to undertake such a venture. Friends, Dr. no Roosevelt will beat me to the punch. He always has! We are a democracy. We elected a President. Let's stick with him!"

DIFFERENT IS THE STAND taken by Max Henry Newman of Davis street, Boston, who asks:

"Why have we sent supplies to other nations and ignored the Philippines, an American possession?

"Our own land and people should be our FIRST THOUGHT, and we should aid them before we attempt to guard the interests of other nations.

"Self-defense is necessary to security."

Hollywood Today

BIG OPPORTUNITY FOR JOEL McCREA

By Louella O. Parsons

Joel McCrea

HOLLYWOOD, March 14—Is Hollywood's face red? The biggest stage hit in New York is "Angel Street" and there isn't a producer who wouldn't give a pretty penny to get the movie rights. Well, along comes Columbia and quietly buys the American film rights to a little film called "Gaslight," made in London. Maybe you're asking what bearing this has on the case. Just this—"Angel Street" and "Gaslight" are one and the same. In fact, "Angel Street" was originally called "Gaslight."

So the Hollywood producers are stymied in making an American movie of "Angel Street" unless, of course, they should care to buy the British movie from Columbia. [illegible] it, for [illegible] and the boys [illegible] right. Diana Wynyard and [illegible] will be released [illegible]

ANNA STEN

[illegible] has ambitious plans to film it [illegible]

Cary Grant read the story and was intrigued, but he has too many stories ahead. But Joel McCrea, who refused the Veronica Lake assignment, "I Married a Witch," is very interested at the moment and may accept the Pressburger offer before this is printed.

• • •

ANNA STEN, the Russian actress who cost Sam Goldwyn over a million dollars publicizing her in her first American movie, is coming back to pictures. Her husband, and associate producer in all of her movies, Dr. Eugene Frenke, has bought the American rights to "Girl from Leningrad" which he made in Russia some years back.

He will star Anna and make the picture as soon as he gets a release. This may be a very good time to bring La Sten back.

• • •

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Mrs. Colin Kelly, widow of the Philippine hero, was guest of Al Hall at Columbia; Miriam Hopkins' time is taken up with Gene Solo; Clifford Odets is about to put his name on a Warner contract; Cary Grant will soon become an American citizen; Greta Garbo and the boy friend, Gaylord Hauser, have returned from their Eastern jaunt; Cesar Romero coaching his old friend, Joan Crawford, in the jitterbug routine she does in "He Kissed the Bride."

• • •

IDA LUPINO, the victim of "The Hard Way," out for a few days. Reports are Lee Howard of the "Sea-biscuit" Howards, [illegible] trouble over custody of their children. [illegible] is in town for the preview of "The Pied Piper of Tuba" the Charles Laughton-RKO movie. [illegible] being filmed at Minten Field. Peter Lind [illegible] with that Lana Turner is their favorite [illegible]

The little follow is complaining that the income tax wallops him harder than a bass drum in a jam session.

He will have plenty of company Monday for the big fellows will be little fellows then.

The new taxes take everything off the top like an army hair clip.

They also scrape the bottom of the barrel and take a bite out of the middle. It may be tough but the better the fight the more you pay for the seat.

We pay and we fight because America is where we live.

The United States is our home. Remember that Ingersoll said that a man will die for his home but nobody ever sacrificed his life in defense of a boarding house.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, SATURDAY, MARCH 14, 1942

The Kid's Feeling His Old Self Again

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 14—Ted Williams was a happy youngster this morning as the Red Sox Greyhound bus raced toward this city where the Sox face Lou Boudreau's Cleveland Indians today. Not because the right field fence at Clearwater is only 290 feet away from home plate (though that didn't exactly displease him) but because he had won the first round of his fight for reinstatement with baseball fandom.

TED WILLIAMS

He had been royally received by the Sarasota populace in the Sox games with Cincinnati and Washington. Not one boo rent the air as the 23-year-old batting champion of the universe strode to the plate. Acclaim greeted him on all sides. No longer was he a man without a country. It pleased him.

He was wondering this morning how he would be received in Clearwater and Tampa, where the Sox face the Cincinnati club tomorrow.

"If I get by this trip, I'll be all right," said the Kid, who a week ago was being painted as the nation's No. 1 slacker, but who has come to be regarded as something of a martyr since the true facts of his case came to light.

"I'll have a good year," he vowed. "I'm in great condition. If the press will only give me half a break. You fellows know my case . . . I'm wondering how the other cities will receive me . . . If they only knew," and the lonely 23-year-old pressed his curly locks against the bus window and gazed out at the countryside.

Will Have to Plug Ears With Cotton

CHARLIE WAGNER, Ted's roomie, reports that the Kid's very much his old self again, getting up early mornings, grabbing a magazine as if it were a bat and swinging, swinging, swinging in front of the mirror . . . poking his head out the window like an eight-year-old to look at the bombers overhead . . . doing everything with jerks as if charged with electricity . . . a dynamic personality who can be a greater gate attraction than was Babe Ruth if the Minneapolis draft board hasn't poisoned the minds of fandom.

One has a lot of respect for the Kid. A week ago he was friend less. He was being urged to enlist by one and sundry.

"You'll be booed in every park in the country," he was told. And the Kid doesn't like to be booed. He's a sensitive youngster.

"If 30,000 are cheering me, and one guy way up in section M is hooting me, he's the only one I hear," Ted confessed. "I'll just have to plug my ears with cotton . . . I've got to go through with it whether I'm booed or not . . . I can't let Mom starve . . . I can't throw the only $6000 I've got out the window."

(He has his money invested in annuities which will lapse unless two more annual payments are made. He hopes to pay both this year, so that his mother will have a little income. Then he plans to enlist in the Navy.)

A week ago, the Sox ball players were in a dither when they learned he was going to report . . . "He'll ruin the game for the rest of us . . . This might mean the end of baseball . . . We'll be the most unpopular club in the circuit."

That feeling has changed appreciably since the Kid joined the club. The players can see his side of the case. They hope the fans can.

How much smarter it would have been, how much easier on the Kid if Landis and Harridge and Yawkey and their lawyers investigated his case when war was declared; if they had met with the Minneapolis draft board; if they had called in the Army morale officers, and had threshed the thing out thoroughly and privately.

"This thing will create an awful furore if they figure he is being deferred because he is Ted Williams," they might have said. "On the other hand, baseball's morale will be riddled if they find he is being put in Class 1-A unjustifiably just because he is Ted Williams. Let's lay all our cards on the table. Let's square this thing here and now before it creates an avalanche of protest, one way or the other."

But no. They let the 23-year-old kid fight the battle himself. Everybody was against him, even the executives of his own ball club. All urged him to enlist. They even had Mickey Cochrane take him on a tour of the Great Lakes Naval Station hoping it might change his mind.

"I've given the matter a lot of thought," said the Kid, "and I've decided to play ball. If wasn't convinced I was right, I wouldn't have come down here."

One 23-year-old against the world. He made the big decision, knowing deep in his heart it was the correct one. Now everybody, even those same Sox executives, are hopping on his bandwagon.

We hope, and we expect, that the Clearwater Park will ring with cheers when the long-limbed, long-necked kid strides to the plate this afternoon . . . that big No. 9 on his back and his pants down over his ankle tops. And we'll bet he gets a similar ovation in Boston. He deserves it.

Arcaro O. K. After 4-Horse Tropical Spill

TROPICAL PARK, Fla., March 14 (AP)—The second Friday-the-13th of 1942 will be remembered by horsemen for years to come as the day of the big spill at Miami's Tropical Park. But yesterday's four-horse pile-up in the featured Indian River Handicap turned out to be less serious than it appeared, at least for the quartet of jockeys involved.

Eddie Arcaro, riding the favored Boston Man the first horse to go down, was thought to have fractured his right arm, but an X-ray examination disclosed nothing more serious than painful bruises and the loss of considerable skin.

Two other jockeys received minor injuries in the spill, which occurred as the nine horses in the field swung into the stretch turn.

Arcaro's mount, owned by Mrs. H. T. Archibald, was forcing the leader when he faltered and fell in front of Harold S. Clark's Royal Man, ridder by Nick Wall.

Requested, Sun Again 8-1 Derby Favorites

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 14 (AP)—Local oddsmakers put a 10 to 1 tag on Alsab, 1941 juvenile champion today, as nominations for the 1942 Kentucky Derby were released. Ranked above Mrs. Al Sabath's $700 bargain horse were Calumet Farm's Sun Again and B. F Whitaker's Requested at 8 to 1.

The Louisville Times handicapper reported the following winter book prices on other Derby eligibles:

Bless Me, 10; Devil Diver, 15; Bright Willie, 15. American Wolf, 20. Boot and Spur, 30; Shut Out, 30. Ramillies, 30; Apache, 40; Dogpatch, 40; Black Raider, 40; Figgeritout, 40; First Fiddle, 40; With Regards, 50; Syl's Jimmy, 50; Some Chance, 50; Col. Teddy. 50; Chiquita Mia, 50.

Others ranged up to 1000 to 1.

150 Horses Nominated For Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 14 (AP)—One hundred and fifty thoroughbreds, headed by Alsab and Requested, were nominated today for the 68th running of the $75,000 Kentucky Derby at Churchill Down May 2.

Included in the list of nominees for the mile and a quarter classic are 15 imported horses.

The impact of war on this country—which forced cancellation of winter racing in California—is shown in the number of nominations. During the last 12 years the nominations have ranged between 102 and 130. In 1930 there were 150 nominated and in the lush year, 1928, the record of 196.

Of the 150 nominated this year, probably not more than 10 to 15 will parade to the post on Derby day.

REQUESTED RATED HIGHLY

Col. Matt J. Winn, president of Churchill Downs, reviewing the list of subscribers, declared the Derby "is wide open."

"There is no outstanding candidate," he said, "but there are more than a score of top class three-year-olds from which the winner probably will come."

Mrs. Albert Sabath's Alsab, 1941 juvenile champion, presents by far the most impressive record of any of the nominees on the basis of last year's performance. But the $700 bargain horse has been anything but successful this season in his Florida campaign. Whether Alsab will be able to return to 1941 form by May 2 remains the big question among turfmen.

The Sabath colt started 22 times as a two-year-old, won 15, was second twice and third once to win a total of $110,600.

Second only to Alsab among 1941 juveniles, Requested, owned by B. F. Whitaker and winner of the Flamingo this winter, also is in the list and probably will become the winter book favorite.

Warren Wright's Calumet Farm stable, which ran into the California racing blackout, nominated eight thoroughbreds to lead all subscribers in the hope of repeating his 1941 triumph by Whirlaway. Trainer Ben Jones, however, is believed staking his hopes on either Sun Again or Some Chance. Sun Again took down $45,455 last year while Some Chance won $81,265. Some Chance lost his only time out this year at Agua Caliente.

Col. E. R. Bradley, whose Idle Hour silks have triumphed in four Derbies, is back again with Bless Me after a year's absence. If Bless Me goes to the post, many a Kentucky dollar will be riding with him just in case this is again the colonel's year.

The Florida winter racing season brought to the fore another promising nominee in Bright Willie, owned by Mrs. R. McIlvain and winner of $10,720 last year.

Yet to show their 1942 form are Mrs. Payne Whitney's Devil Diver and Shut Out and William Woodward's Apache — all top ranking juveniles.

SIX NOMINATED BY MAYER

While the number of imported horses nominated is large, none, in the opinion of local hardboots, carries much weight. John Hay Whitney's This England, by Hyperion out of Sarita, appears the best of the bunch on previous performance. Omar Khayyam was the only imported horse ever to win the Derby, being first in 1917.

Outstanding juveniles also included in the Derby subscribers list are Black Raider, owned by Mrs. Ethel V. Mars, whose Gallahadion won in 1940; C. S. Howard's filly, Chiquita Mia, winner of $17,915 last year, and Mrs. A. F. Sherman's American Wolf, winner of several upsets in Florida this winter.

Movie man Louis B. Mayer nominated six thoroughbreds including four imported horses—King's Abbey, Domingo, Family Tree and Jury Box.

ROLFE READY TO GO SOUTH

TOLEDO, O., March 14 (AP)—Robert A. (Red) Rolfe, veteran third sacker for the world champion New York Yankees, plans to leave here early next week for the Yankees' training base at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Rolfe has been in Toledo since Wednesday taking treatments from a specialist for colitis. The 33-year-old Penacook, N. H., infielder, who dropped from 170 to 159 pounds during the 1941 campaign, said he hadn't been feeling well since September.

Although he had regained his normal playing weight, Rolfe said:

"If baseball is going to injure my health, I have no alternative but to give it up. The mental and physical strain certainly wouldn't help my playing ability."

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14 (AP)—Rangy Cornelius Warmerdam, the Piedmont high school teacher who has written blazing new chapters in pole vaulting history, failed in his attempt to set a new world's record of 16 feet.

He cleared 14 feet 1½ inches before failing three times to clear 15-4.

Final Trials In N. E. Bouts Monday Night

More than two score amateur mittmen from various sections of New England clash in the final elimination show of the 1942 New England A. A. A. U. championships Monday night at the Arena.

This will be an Irish-American A. A. offering, and every registered boxer in N. E. A. A. A. U. is eligible to take part.

The card will be made up of bouts in the eight championship classes, flyweights to heavyweights. All entries for Monday night must be made in writing and filed with Tom Kanaly at the Arena.

Among new entries for Monday's bouts are Tony Peppi, Boston, former New England flyweight champion; John Dodd, Boston; Bill Joyce, Boston, and Bob Lindquist, Boston, in the 135; Edward Barnes, Saugus, and Joseph Pedi, Chelsea, in the 147 pounds; John McGrath, Roxbury, and Carman Loto, Providence, in the 160 pounds; Bill Ambler, Reading, and Phil Chapman, Dorchester, in the heavyweight division.

RINDGE DUELS CHELSEA FOR TECH TITLE

Solly Nechtem's Chelsea High School Red Devils and Tommy Murphy's capable Rindge Tech five—for the second year in a row—will battle for championship honors in the annual Tech basketball tournament.

Shifted because of the national emergency from the scene of last year's thriller which Rindge won by a point in the final minute of play on the spacious court at M.I.T. tonight's game winds up four days of competition at Tufts Cousens Gymnasium, Medford.

Chelsea crashed into the finals on the wings of a thrilling conquest of Attleboro, 26-25, last night. Lawience "Nonny" McLennan, 15-year-old sophomore, paced the Red Devils to victory, scoring nine points.

GUARDS TOP SCOI EKS

Chelsea maintained a one-point advantage by "freezing" the ball during the hair-reieing contest's final three minutes. The risky strategy, ordered by Coach Nechtem, paid dividends. The conquest marked the second straight year that Chelsea has eliminated Attleboro.

Rindge rushed into the finals by kayoing New Bedford, 42-30. Paralleling Chelsea's conquest of Attleboro, Rindge's win over New Bedford marked the second straight year that the Teckers have eliminated the Whalers in the semi-final round.

Frank Paglieranl and Angelo Panis, a pair of guards, paced Rindge to its healthy conquest. Paglierani popped 10 points, Panis 12.

Rindge, on the short end of a 21-18 score at the half, perked up in the final periods and registered an emphatic conquest.

NEWBURYPORT FAVORED

High scoring Newburyport, winner of 15 of 17 games, including a pair of victories in the tournament, was favored to snare honors from defending champion Braintree in the final of Class B, starting at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Newburyport crashed the final for the second time in three straight years via a decisive conquest of Rockland 54-30. On that same card Braintree didn't have too much trouble with Lexington, the defending champions, winning 38-29.

Rockland, emphatically decisioned by Newburyport, pasted a pair of defeats on Braintree during the regular season. Previous to the defeats by Rockland, Braintree had won 12 in a row.

Harvard Turns To Spring Sports Football Monday

With the winter sports season at an end following last night's Harvard-Yale basketball and swim contests, a veritable horde of Crimson athletes from these sports plus hockey will migrate Monday to baseball, football, and crew.

Horsehide mentor Floyd Stahl will receive Minnesota Ed Buckley from the hoop squad, Gordie McGrath and the third line of the ice team composed of Al Everts, Al Macmillan, and Marc Beebe. This soph trio composed three-fourths of last year's freshman infield.

Spring football, which begins Monday, attracts the largest number of athletes, including Tom Cowen, reserve hockey defenseman, and hockey and basketball freshmen totalling better than a dozen. Outstanding among the grid cubs are big Don Richards of the hoopsters; Dick Mechem, captain of the undefeated disc-chasers — Richard and Mechem paired at the halfback post last fall; Warren Carstensen and Paul Coste, also of the icemen; track stars Pete Garland and Jack Fisher. Six-four, 208-pound Garland smashed the Exeter shotput record with a heave of better that 56 ft., while Fisher, only a freshman, topped Jaako Mikkola's varsity weight-throwers. Garland played end and Fisher captained the frosh footballers at center.

Of the swimmers, Darcy Curwen, freestyle and butterfly specialist, tops the migrating stars, inasmuch as is Tom Bolles' ranking stroke oar.

* * *

Johnny Eusden's 23.9 win in the 50 and slightly better than 52 second performance in the 100 deserve recognition as the best individual efforts of any Crimson athlete this year. His times were the best any Harvard freestyle ace has turned in since the halcyon days of Charlie Hutter and Willie Kendall.

Don Twombly of Portland, Ore., sophomore 135-pound leather-pusher and university titleholder, hung up his gloves after winning the title Thursday night at the request of the Marine Corps. CATHOLIC HOOP CLASSIC HITS QUARTERFINAL

St. Mary's of Waltham will be carrying the hopes of the local Catholic League tonight when the Watch City basketball team faces St. Bernard's of Fitchburg in the quarter-final round of the ninth annual New England Catholic Basketball tournament at the Arena.

In the other half of the scheduled double-header, St. John's of Worcester will tackle Holy Family of New Bedford.

St. Mary's moved into this round by whipping Cheverus high of Portland, Me., winning out because of the failure of the Maine boys to sink their close-up shots. In facing St. Bernard's, the Waltham team will be up against a much tougher foe.

The Fitchburg entry romped into the favorites role by dropping St. Joseph's of Manchester, N. H., by a 30 to 21 count. St. Bernard's, champion in 1937 and 1939, has never dropped a tourney game and may keep this record intact against the local club.

St. John's of Worcester, behind the brilliant Johnny Foley, staged a grand comeback to win its place in this round at the expense of Cathedral High of Springfield. Cathedral led the Worcester entry midway through the final period only to have Foley put the game on ice.

Mission High of Roxbury, the other local entry, fell victim to Ernie Hassey and his Holy Family team. Mission ran up a comfortable lead early in the game, but the New Bedford quintet found itself to turn in a clever 27-to-24 victory.

Ranger Rookie Named Best In 1942 Poll

Chunky Grant Warwick of the New York Rangers is the outstanding rookie of the National Hockey League by a vote of 30 puck writers and the margin by which he annexed the honors was proof enough of his first-year exploits, according to the Associated Press.

He piled up 70 points for the Calder trophy compared with 27 for Buddy O'Conner of the Montreal Canadiens, who was second. The Canadian press counted the tallies.

Bob Goldham of Toronto was third with 16 and Alex Kaleta of Chicago fourth with 15.

Only two of the writers participating in the voting failed to place Warwick either first, second or third. The 20-year-old right wing, who was with the amateur Regina Rangers last season, poked in 16 goals and had 17 assists in his first pro season.

This probably will be Warwick's last season, as well as his first, of National Hockey League play for the duration. His father already is a member of the Canadian army and his brother Claude is in the Dominion naval service. Warwick has indicated he will join his brother at the completion of the league playoffs.

EYE INJURY KEEPS CHMIELEWSKI FROM TITLE

Although well behind on points, Coley Welch of Portland, Me., managed to retain his New England middleweight title when an eye injury forced Henry Chmielewski, of Cambridge, to retire from the ring after the eighth round of their scheduled 12-round bout tonight at the Boston Garden.

Opposing each other for their fifth and rubber engagement, the battlers opened at a terrifically fast pace, which they maintained for the first six rounds. Welch did practically all of the leading and those aggressive tactics subjected him to much punishment, for Chmielewski seldom missed with a stinging jab or a solid smash to the head as the titlist tried to charge him.

CHIMMY DOWN FOR NINE

After losing the opening round by a close margin, Welch landed the bout's heaviest punch in the second frame, a powerful right hook to the jaw that dropped Chmielewski for a nine-count. The blow slowed down the Cambridge challenger for about a round but he was battling as strongly as ever when the sixth opened.

During the last two rounds, Chmielewski hooked and jabbed Welch almost at will as the latter tried to close in to launch a body attack. Several times, however, Welch managed to connect with a heavy left hook and one of those blows caused such damage to Chmielewski's eye that his second asked the referee to halt the bout.

ZULLO KAYOES FANTI

When the bout was stopped, much to the surprise of 3895 spectators, Chmielewski, who weighed 157¾, had five rounds to his credit against three for the 160-pound Welch.

In the eight-round engagements Ralph Zanelli, 148, of Providence, R. I., out-pointed Billy Lancaster, 150½, of Portland, Me., by a wide margin and Jerry Zullo, 135, of Chelsea, registered a four-round technical knockout verdict over Patsy Fanti, 137, of Lynn.

IT LOOKS LIKE ANOTHER YANKEE YEAR

Screwball Isn't What It Used to Be - - Hubbell

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—The baseball season is a month away, but the world champion New York Yankees already have started a few "streaks." The Yanks have won three exhibition games in a row, the last two by shutouts, and haven't been scored on in 28 innings.

* * *

CLEARWATER, Fla.—The Indians will send veterans Al Smith, Joe Krakauskas and Clint Brown against the Red Sox today in an effort to get the Tribe back in the winning column after dropping three straight.

Shortstop-Manager Lou Boudreau went to bed with a sore throat yesterday and Otto Denning, rookie catcher, was ordered to the address for the rest of the Grapefruit season because of a broken finger on his throwing hand.

* * *

TAMPA, Fla.—A bright spot in Cincinnati's inability to improve its hitting is Shortstop Eddie Joost, lead-off man, who cracked three singles yesterday to bring to nine his total of safeties in five Grapefruit games. Last year Joost disproved experts who said he was too frail to stand the rigors of an entire campaign. This season he is 15 pounds heavier.

* * *

MIAMI, Fla.—"No, the screwball isn't what it used to be," says Carl Hubbell, veteran New York Giants southpaw, of the pitch that made him one of the game's greatest.

"It just couldn't be because I no longer can put the snap on it that I used to. And of course, I can't throw as hard, either. But the curve still seems to be working all right."

* * *

DE LAND, Fla.—Harland Clift and Walt Judnich each hit a homer and accounted for five runs as the Browns' Regulars trimmed the Yanklings 10-2 in yesterday's inter-squad game. Manager Luke Sewell plans to pitch a pair of rookie lefthanders, Clarence Jott and Sewell Pyle, against the Kansas City Blues today.

* * *

LOS ANGELES—Although Shortstop Leo Wells' batting average of .277 with St. Paul last year wouldn't make him a cleanup hitter, Manager Jimmy Dykes has him batting fourth in the White Sox lineup. Dykes insists he's counting on Wells as his shortstop. The clean-up position was held last year by Shortstop Luke Appling, still holding out.

* * *

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—Billy Sullivan, the catcher purchased from Detroit by Brooklyn yesterday, can play first or third base and may get a chance at an infield post with the Dodgers, President Larry MacPhail, who says Rookie Cliff Dapper also will be kept on the catching staff, points out that if anything happens to Pee Wee Reese, Arky Vaughan could be moved to his old shortstop position and Sullivan to third base.

* * *

ANAHEIM, Cal. — If rookie Elmer Valo keeps on hitting like he did yesterday, he'll be assured a steady job with Connie Mack's Athletics. The Wilmington, Del., outfielder made four hits off Philadelphia's 16 hits as the Mackmen trounced the Pirates, 12-8.

* * *

LAKELAND, Fla.—Manager Del Baker of the Tigers has maintained through many reverses that Pitcher Paul Trout has qualified to become an American League winner. While the Tigers lost their Grapefruit opener yesterday to the Cardinals, 4-1, Trout faced only 17 batters in the last five innings, yielding one hit and an unearned run.

* * *

ORLANDO, Fla.—Jimmy Pofahl is getting close to Frank Croucher's second base job with the Senators. While Croucher was out with a sore arm, Pofahl delighted Bucky Harris by playing an errorless game against the Red Sox. He figured in three double plays and made a leaping catch of a line drive.

* * *

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Cardinal pitchers again turned in fashionable performances as the Red Birds defeated the Tigers, 4-1, yesterday. Rookie John Beazley was the best, allowing only two hits, one of the scratch variety, and did not walk a batter. Matt Surkont, another rookie whose chief handicap is wildness, hurled three innings without issuing a pass.

* * *

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — William Harmon, University of Richmond athlete, whom the Phils thought they had signed to the Marines, returns to the fold today as a practice pitcher and bullpen catcher. He was rejected by the Marines because of a minor physical defect.

* * *

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—The cancellation of two training games gave the Pirates a chance to brush up on their card playing. Vince DiMaggio, Al Lopez, Bob Klinger and Elbie Fletcher are the experts at hearts, while Spud Davis, Bob Rice, Bill Baker and Alf Anderson rate as bridge hounds.

* * *

AVALON, Cal.—Five White Sox errors helped the Cubs win their first spring game, 13-5, yesterday, but the winners also blasted 16 hits while the American Leaguers were being held to seven. Stan Hack had three for five and Lou Stringer hit two for two, knocking in three runs.

Court Blasts Dodgers

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP)—The management of the Brooklyn Dodgers was severely criticized by three justices of the Brooklyn special sessions court for "handing over to ticket speculators the best tickets" while loyal fans had to be content with what they could get."

The judicial blast was loosed by Justices Matthew J. Troy, George B. DeLuca and Bernard A. Kozicke while fining Harry Cohen and Max Gottesman $250 each and Fred Sieman $150 for failure to display a price list on their booth near Ebbets Field.

"There have been no people who have suffered longer than Brooklyn baseball fans," said the justices, adding "we would feel much happier if the management of the Brooklyn baseball club were present in court today as co-defendants."

Mt. Katahdin Great Skiing Possibility

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

That Mount Katahdin, Maine's snowcapped sentinel, should be developed as a skiing area, is the opinion of Jim Briggs, 23-year-old instructor from Caribou, who is now acting in the capacity of head ski teacher in Earl Chandler's school at the Belknap Mountain Area, Gilford-Laconia, N. H.

"Many skiers have already discovered the possibilities that this mountain offers," he told us as we chatted with him in the Laconia Tavern recently.

"This peak has a long snow season and it is not uncommon for 20-foot trees there to be completely buried in powder. Here is a chance for some one to develop this spot into a skiing paradise. Trails could be cut through the woods, a large lodge placed at the foot, and the tramway run to the summit."

NOT A LOOSLI FOLLOWER

Starting to pursue the art in a serious manner about 15 years ago using bindings and boots, Jim became proficient on the boards by skiing with Norwegian friends. He is also a skilled hunter and fisherman, serving as a guide in the rugged terrain of Maine and Canada.

During the past few winters, he has spent considerable time giving ski instruction at the University of New Brunswick and Quebec. He was here that he met Fritz Loosli, famous for his "Parallel Skiing" technique. Jim, however, does not acknowledge Loosli's method.

This sturdy chap has visited New Hampshire for several seasons to enjoy suntan schussing in the spring at Pinkham Notch. He received one of his greatest thrills the first time he came over the Headman-Tuckerman Ravine's famed snowbowl.

Briggs thinks the Belknap Mountain Recreation Area is a great development, but an unfortunate selection for a site, as far as snow conditions go.

PLENTY OF "HARDWARE"

"More skiers should take lessons and learn to practice control instead of running the trails like headless chickens," he declared. "Everyone in America should take up skiing or some other outdoor sport to keep physically fit and ready for any emergency."

The only contest in four events in various meets held in Quebec and New Brunswick. By his ability on the "Headless Chicken" he collected quite a bit of "hardware."

Cannon Mountain in Franconia Notch is this skier's favorite rendezvous, and he believes that all trails should be patterned after those which wind down this mountain like wide cowpaths.

Briggs has had many pupils at Laconia and has won scores of new friends in the ski colony. His native town of Caribou, Me., he is president of the large Northmen's Ski Club there, and is missed by all the boys and gals.

LEW JENKINS
Fights Kaplan Here

Jenkins Signed To Meet Kaplan Here March 27

Colorful Lew Jenkins, former lightweight champion of the world, will make his first appearance in a New England ring when he comes here a week from Friday night, March 27, to fight Mike Kaplan in the 10-round feature bout of a Boston Boxing Ass'n show at Mechanics Building.

Matchmaker Jack O'Brien announced last night that he has clinched this fight. Boston's biggest of the indoor season.

Jenkins, from deep in the heart of Texas, is considered the hardest-clouting 135-pounder in the industry has known. Jenkins belted Lou Ambers into retirement and took Lou's 135-pound title. Sudden fame and fortune didn't settle too well with Jenkins. He neglected training and blew his championship but the Texan is back at hard work, serious in his efforts to recapture either the lightweight or welterweight crowns.

Priest Matched With Tordiglione

Alfred "Red" Priest of Cambridge moves up from the spotlight next Friday night at the Boston Arena when he fights Billy Tordiglione, North End, in a 10-round main bout on a Goodwin A. C. boxing program.

Priest turned professional little more than a year ago and has had nine moneyed fights, winning all of them and so impress'ng the experts that he appears to be one of the best prospects produced in this neighborhood in many years.

Priest and Tordiglione had two scraps as amateurs, with the latter winning the first and Priest squaring the account in a return meeting. These "rubber" as professionals occurs next Friday night.

Handicap Track Meet At Malden High Gym

An open handicap track meet, sponsored by the Malden High AA in conjunction with the track and field committee of the NEAAAU, was on the card this afternoon at the Farnsworth G. Marshall gym at Malden.

BRUINS CAN JUMP LEAFS INTO 2D PLACE

By the Associated Press

The National Hockey League has provided many surprises during the campaign but none as amazing as the antics of the New York Rangers who have not been shutout in 100 games, have one of the mightiest scoring machines in recent years—and still must "back" into the championship.

No matter what the Rangers do in their final game with the Chicago Black Hawks Sunday, second-place Toronto will determine if the Blue Shirts are the league champions or the runners-up.

The Rangers had a chance to make their final week easy but stumbled to a 2 to 1 setback by the re-constructed Boston Bruins. Now they must defeat the Hawks on Windy City ice where victories aren't so easy to manufacture.

LEAFS CAN NIP RANGERS

Toronto, where hope still is high, is only three points in rear of the Rangers and has three games in which to make up the deficit. The first of those contests is tonight against the same Bruins on the Leaf rink. Sunday night the Canadian six is in New York for a meeting with the hapless Brooklynites.

Their finale is with neighboring Montreal, in sixth place. Should the Leafs win tonight it is not impossible that they will sweep the three games and finish the season with 61 points.

New York now has 58 tallies and a triumph over Chicago would give it 60. Anything less than a decisive victory over the Hawks, virtually eliminates Toronto and for the team that boasts the first National League player in seven years to score 20 goals in a season as one of its stars.

DETROIT VS. CANADIENS

And, while the New Yorkers are faced with the possibility of losing their status as league leaders, their championship and the extra money that comes to a titleholder, the Toronto Maple Leafs are in danger of losing second place, despite their threats to the Rangers.

A Boston victory tonight would permit the Bruins, Stanley Cup champions of last season to vault over the Leafs, at least temporarily.

The only contest tonight pits Detroit against Montreal.

ERNIE MUNDEY of the Washington Eagles now will be seen in action tonight at the Garden against Boston Olympics. Ernie, a center iceman, is one of team's leading scorers.

Olympics Play Washington Here Tonight

The Boston Olympics open a two-day stand tonight at the Garden when they renew their ice feud with the Washington Eagles in a contest that promises plenty of wild and woolly action.

River Vale Skeelers will offer the Sunday afternoon opposition at 3 o'clock following the finals of the National A. H. A. tournament which starts at 12:30.

Conch Hago Harrington and his charges have been looking forward to this conflict with the Eagles. The last time they met in Washington three weeks ago, the game wound up in a near-free-for-all. Big Al Baranowski came out of that one with a broken thumb. It wasn't until last Sunday that he returned to action.

The Walpole giant especially is anxious to get back into action against the Eagles.

Two new players will be making their first appearance in Olympic uniforms, Al DuPuy, center, and George Blake, right winger, both from New Haven.

Demoriers

It is expected they will work with Al "Pinky" Simmons, Boston regular pivot, Ray Chaleson, is still sidelined by a hip injury.

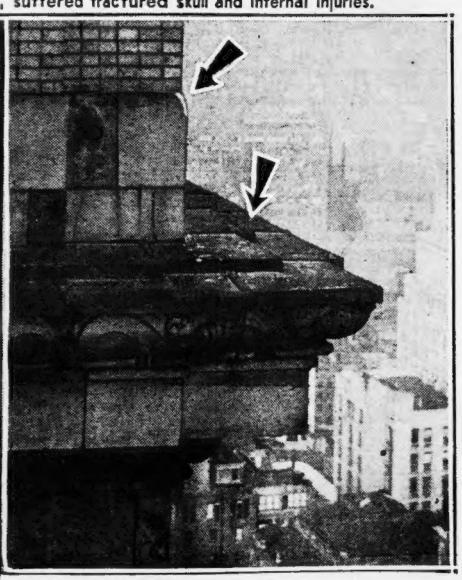
Injured Youth Carried From Wreckage

Seven Hurt—Seven Allston youths were in City Hospital today as a result of this crash, caused when their car failed to make Boston's Charles st. circle. The car, completely wrecked, tore up 15 feet of cement abutment in its wild dash before ramming a steel-girdered wall. The driver, Edward J. Zbinski, suffered fractured skull and internal injuries.

New Yorkers View Shell-Hit Building Ledge From Street



Shell Hit—One of eight shells accidentally fired from an anti-aircraft battery found a target in New York's Equitable building . . . and knocked pieces of brick from a ledge (arrows) between the 37th and 38th floors. Fragments fell to street, but no one was hurt.
